BIG VOTES IN TWO PROVINCES ARE PREDICTED

Closing Shots Fired in Saskatchewan and Ontario Campaigns By Leaders and Armies of Candidates

People To-morrow Will Go to Polls

The final shots were being fired to-day in the political campaigns in Saskatchewan and Ontario. Late to-night the verbal barrage, directed by the five leaders and 429 candidates in the two provinces, will cease. The electors will have their say to-morrow.

The fate of two Conservative administrations will be decided at the polls—that of Premier George S. Henry in Ontario and that of Premier J. T. M. Anderson in Saskatchewan, which has been known as a Co-operative ministry, including as it does Progressives and Independents as well as the Conservatives.

Canadian Press dispatches to-day told of the final meetings in the campaigns in the two provinces.

PRAIRIE MEETINGS
All three Saskatchewan party chiefs are back home for the last-minute rallies. Premier Anderson will wind up his fight for re-election in Saskatoon. The Liberal leader, J. G. Gardiner, will speak at Melville, while M. J. Colwell, leader of the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation Farmer-Labor Party, will address a Regina meeting.

In Ontario, Mitchell Hepburn, Liberal leader, will speak this evening in St. Thomas, in his own constituency of Elgin, while Premier Henry will close his campaign to-night in Simcoe.

Large votes are expected in both Saskatchewan and Ontario. Some observers in Ontario predict a record vote.

THIRD PARTY
A new and unknown factor in the campaign is a third party—the Farmer-Labor Party, affiliate of the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation. (Turn to Page 2, Col. 3)

Tourist Pendulum Requires Changing

Balance of Motor Travel Against B.C. Last Year, Latest Figures Show

Need For More Publicity and Better Roads to Be Surveyed By Economic Council

As the Economic Council prepared this week to get a comprehensive picture of the tourist business of British Columbia one of the facts standing out above all others was that last year, for the first time since accurate records have been kept, this province had an unfavorable balance in its tourist trade with the United States.

This is reflected in statistics just prepared which show that where 102,63 cars were checked in from across the line, 125,266 were checked out to be other side.

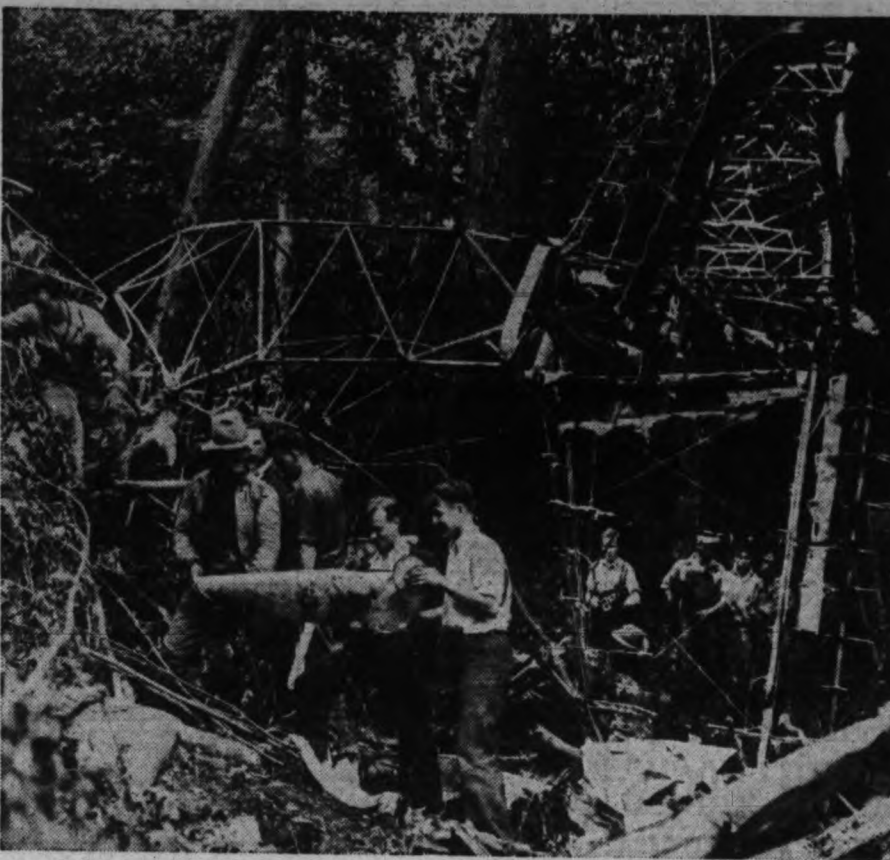

While this does not convey the full extent of the trade, it is an indication of the trend, tourist officials believe, and they are firmly convinced the reason is because of a slackening in publicity work due to the depression period. It is not that the increase in outgoing cars was very great, but that a drop in the incoming cars amounted to nearly 30 per cent.

Over a six-year period the incoming cars have been from 18 to 50 per cent higher in total than the outgoing ones except for last year. Here are the figures:

	In	Out
1928	161,208	116,193
1929	180,796	126,830
1930	188,418	145,998
1931	189,475	135,332
1932	143,879	114,475
1933	102,662	125,266

This is just one of the phases which the council under Dr. W. A. Carr (Turn to Page 2, Col. 8)

Changes In Relief Policy Worked Out

Government to Call in Municipal Representatives to Discuss New Draft

Aggressive Employment Policy Is Aim Instead of Unemployment Scheme

British Columbia's new policy to deal with the relief of the unemployed probably will be more of an employment policy than an unemployment plan, it was indicated this morning by Hon. George S. Pearson, the Minister of Labor.

Mr. Pearson this week set in motion the machinery for preparation of the new policy which will go into effect on August 1.

The senior officials of the relief department are now working on the new registration system which commences on that date. In the meantime, Mr. Pearson is communicating with every member of the Legislature to secure their ideas for future relief, and these will be sifted down.

When the draft policy is completed the government will call representatives of the Union of B.C. Municipalities and relief officers of the larger centres to discuss it, the minister said. This will make it possible for a basis to be arrived at satisfactory to the different authorities administering relief.

LABOR SURVEY
In explaining his desire to change from an unemployment to an employment policy, Mr. Pearson pointed out the economic council had already commenced a labor survey, classifying all workless, according to skill and trades. This will form the foundation for an aggressive policy of securing employment in the avenues where it is most needed. Later on the labor department will complete this classification by including those who are already employed.

It is also possible there will be readjustment of the relief allowances. The minister is making his own investigation of the present scale, especially those in the higher categories, which are of amounts not conducive to encourage a man to gain employment in some cases.

Canadian Press
Corbett, Ont., June 18.—The Dionne quintuplets, three weeks old to-day, are still in satisfactory condition although they showed a weight loss between them of 4½ ounces to-day from Sunday.

Dr. A. R. Dafoe reported they are eating well and he is not worried over the loss of weight as they gained 8½ ounces Sunday over Saturday. They are almost a pound heavier than they were a week ago.

Mrs. Olive Dionne was also reported to-day in satisfactory condition. Dr. Dafoe is keeping her in bed until she fully regains her strength.

Street Railway Strike Planned

Employees of Toronto City System Vote to Quit in Wage Dispute

Toronto, June 18.—The executive of the Toronto Street Railway Employees' Union was in session late to-day considering what action will be taken following receipt this afternoon of sanction for a strike from the international union head offices.

Employees of the Toronto Transportation Commission decided early to-day by a vote of 1,174 to 4, to call a strike in protest against decision of the commission, supported by finding of a board of conciliation, to effect a wage reduction of three cents an hour for platform men.

The strike vote was taken early to-day at a mass meeting in Massey Hall.

AWAIT WORD FROM U.S.
At the end of the meeting Lawrence O'Connell, president of the union, issued a statement saying the men had decided to strike and added sanction of the international union was expected in a few hours.

The finding of the board of conciliation authorized a cut of three cents an hour in the wage of sixty cents an hour for platform men and sixty-five cents an hour for operators of one-man cars.

Almost 5,000 men are affected.

TAX AID FOR B.C. FARMERS

Agriculturists in Arrears on Property May Work Out Arrears

A measure of relief for farmers of the province who are threatened with loss of their property by tax sale has been determined by the provincial government, it was confirmed this morning by Premier Pattullo.

Where the conditions are such that a farmer is unable to pay his taxes and his property will go to tax sale, he will be permitted to "work out" his bill for one year. He will be allowed just enough work to cover the taxes for just one year and thus keep the property out of the tax sale. He would not be permitted to work out his whole bill, which would cover three years.

The policy, as decided by the cabinet, applies for only one year. While no fixed rate of wages for such work was set, it will probably be paid at the prevailing rate for relief work in the area where the particular applicant lives.

Papen's Speech Stirs Germans

Boldest Criticism Since Nazis Gained Power Voiced By Vice-Chancellor

FRANZ VON PAPEN, By Louis F. Lochner, Associated Press Foreign Staff

Berlin, June 18.—The boldest public criticism of the Nazi regime from anyone in authority since Chancellor Hitler's assumption of power in January, 1933, was made yesterday by Vice-Chancellor Franz von Papen.

The sensational character of his remarks, delivered before students of Marburg University, is best illustrated by the fact no Berlin newspapers printed even an excerpt. Von Papen in guarded language, pleaded for re-establishment of the monarchy.

Notice was served by the government-controlled German News Bureau on its subscribers that the speech must not be published in Germany. WANTS FREER PRESS

Von Papen, a Hitler "right-hand man," challenged the Nazi regime's claim it must impose its will in the realm of religion and severely criticized muzzling the press.

Naval Men and Companions and Twenty Chinese Seized and Put Aboard Junks When Oriental Pirates Loot Ss. Shuntien Off Yellow River

Valuable Cargo Of Ship Looted

Canadian Press and Associated Press

Shanghai, June 18.—Two British destroyers and two United States naval craft were ordered out to-day in search of pirates who kidnapped six British subjects, including two British naval officers, from the Shuntien, a British commercial steamer.

The veteran and witch, British destroyers, were dispatched from Weihaiwei in the chase.

The two craft of the United States Asiatic Fleet dispatched to the scene of the outrage, off the mouth of the Yellow River, were the destroyer Pope and the mine-layer Bittern.

They were ordered to find the Chinese junk into which the six Britons and twenty Chinese had been taken off the ship, which flew the British flag.

The sea wolves took over the Shuntien while it was on its way from Tientsin to Shanghai, apparently after boarding it at Tientsin, and awaiting an opportunity to overpower the crew and passengers.

The capture was effected without opposition. The pirates forced the captives into a fleet of five junks which stood by. Besides the captives, the pirates removed all the most valuable merchandise.

Boys Foil Attempt To Burn Old Estate

Three Youths Quench Blaze at Former Adams Home on Balfour Avenue, Apparently Lit By Firebug

An apparent attempt to fire the old Adams house at 3195 Balfour Avenue Friday evening was foiled by three youths who quenched the blaze with buckets of water.

A report to the city police made by Mrs. Caroline Gunn, 194 Obed Avenue, on Saturday, stated her grandson, Alvin Field, and two other boys had put the fire out, before it had assumed large proportions in the upstairs of the house, where it was lit.

The boys with Alvin were Stanley Day, fifteen, of 3043 Washington Avenue, and another named Don.

The latter two were reported to have seen a man leave the house and a few minutes later saw smoke issuing from the upstairs. They ran in immediately and by transporting buckets of water into the house put the fire out.

The Adams house was originally owned by the late Frank C. Adams. Recently it was purchased by a local horse breeder who had his string of racehorses bred on the grounds.

NEW LINE-UP IN U.S. PORT STRIKE

With Peace Proposal Rejected, Pacific Coast Longshoremen Say They Want All Maritime Workers' Demands Settled

Associated Press
San Francisco, June 18.—With the latest peace proposal voted down by striking longshoremen, 27,000 waterfront workers at United States Pacific ports presented to-day what their leaders termed a united front for settlement of demands of all maritime unions.

"From now on it is a waterfront strike—not merely a longshoremen's dispute," said Joseph P. Ryan, president of the International Longshoremen's Association.

The peace proposal, approved by Ryan, was overwhelmingly rejected by standing votes of longshoremen locals. In San Francisco yesterday 3,000 strikers voted almost unanimously to reject the proposal. A unanimous vote against it was registered in Tacoma, where in Portland, 97 per cent of the local International Longshoremen's Association membership took a like stand. The plan was rejected also at San Diego. Seattle longshoremen deferred their vote until to-day.

RECOGNITION QUESTION
The proposal called for the strikers to return to work to-day, thereby terminating the walkout that has practically paralyzed Coast shipping since May 9. It provided also for employment recognition of the union, co-operative operation of the dis-

B.C. TO PAY LOSER'S COSTS?

When the Andlers and their lawyers set about to collect the fruits of their victory, and found the Dukes left without anything, it was discovered there was a clause in the Land Registry Act which enabled the victors to collect on their judgments from the government out of an accumulated land registry insurance fund in the possession of the Minister of Finance.

Mr. Craig asked the court to-day for an extension of the time to appeal, which time had passed last spring, and also for leave to add the Attorney-General as partner in the case with the Dukes, so the B.C. Government could defend itself against the mandamus.

"Unless the Attorney-General is a party, the effect will be that the $34,000 will be paid out of the treasury of the B.C. Government and without the government having a chance to be heard in court," said Mr. Craig. "In other words, the Attorney-General of B.C. is being made to pay for Dukes' fraud."

Mr. Bull argued that the Court of Appeal had no jurisdiction to allow the Attorney-General to open the case now and thus to reopen the case in which the appeal court had given judgment dismissing Dukes' appeal.

"There is no authority under the act which gives a stranger the right to appeal from a judgment," said Mr. Bull. "The Attorney-General is not raising a new issue. He only said that Mr. Justice Fisher, of the Supreme Court was wrong. But the appeal court had said Mr. Justice Fisher was right. We could not force the Attorney-General and the Minister of Finance to become a party to the suit in the first place."

Mr. Craig is continuing his argument this afternoon.

He took issue with the nationwide campaign of Dr. Joseph Goebbels, Minister of Propaganda, against "grouches and croakers." Von Papen warned against radical socialist experiments, asserting they held the possibility of a new civil war.

He criticized the attempt to have one political party rule Germany, instead of making the new Germany "the real people's state."

At one of these responsible for the events when the Nazis went into power, Von Papen said he was being more and more pressed "by voices which demand that I take a positive stand concerning events in Germany and the conditions obtaining here."

NO SAFETY VALVE

One of Von Papen's first darts was at the muzzling of the press. "The press is a safety valve," he said. "The real purpose of the press would seem to be to inform the government of defects that have crept in and point out what corruption has secured a berth, where serious mistakes have been made, where unfit men have been put in wrong places and where sins are being committed."

People Warned Not to Waste Water; King Stops Watering of Lawns at Windsor Castle

Canadian Press and Associated Press

London, June 18.—It is almost unusual—even irregular. Lord Merrivale, the famous jurist, actually discarded his wig in court to-day. The most dignified police in the world, as represented by the Bobbies at Rochester, discarded their tunics and directed traffic in their shirt sleeves.

As England steamed through another humid day with no rain in sight to relieve the country-wide drought, 500 police armed with hunches guarded the Ascot Heath and race course from the danger of fire. A guard was kept everywhere against wastage of water.

Outside of the Trafalgar Square fountains were quelled by a public announcement the water there was used over and over again, being pumped into the air from the reservoir to which it returns.

KING GIVES ORDERS

King George set an example to users of water by ordering the gardeners at Windsor Castle to cease watering the lawns. Impressed by the discomfort of men in uniforms, His Majesty also gave orders Grenadier Guards on sentry duty at the castle might stand on the shady side of their sentry boxes to escape the heat of the sun.

Yesterday, the hottest day of the year so far, the thermometer rose to thirty-seven in London while most of the country sought shelter from fifteen hours continuous sunshine. In Bedfordshire some districts were experiencing an acute shortage of water which was becoming more serious daily.

MAJOR BURST

In London a considerable quantity of water was wasted by the bursting of a main at Knight's Bridge. The water poured over the district for three hours before it could be shut off entirely. Numerous cellars were flooded.

NEW LINE IN DISARMAMENT

Hopes Now Pinned on Next Year's Naval Conference as British-U.S. Talks Start

Associated Press

London, June 18.—The conviction that the present disarmament or limitation of armaments are now pinned primarily on next year's naval conference, dominated the Anglo-American naval conversations which began to-day with a two-hour session at No. 10 Downing Street.

It was stated authoritatively both in the United States and Britain that the United States and Britain virtually despaired of an agreement at Geneva unless the naval powers should set an example.

Even the Franco-German impasse was regarded as being overshadowed by the reservations made by Japan to the security disarmament proposals at Geneva. It was regarded as impossible that either the United States or Russia would make arms commitments unless Japan did likewise.

Brighter prospects for the naval conference were seen in more active participation by the United States than was the case at Geneva. A strong formal appeal by President Roosevelt is expected in British political circles to start the conference off with a bang.

TO MEET WEDNESDAY

It was announced the conference would meet again Wednesday.

Keen Interest in Ottawa in To-morrow's Results in Saskatchewan

Canadian Press

Ottawa, June 18.—With many an eye turned on the general elections in Saskatchewan and Ontario, members of Parliament came together to-day for a final drive to wind up the business of the session. It is expected the remaining business, though considerable, will not take long.

To-morrow's provincial elections have aroused intense interest on Parliament Hill because of the vigor with which the campaigns have been waged and because of the potential effect on the fortunes of parties in the federal political arena. Most of the Ontario members have, at one time or another, engaged in the fray, and some of them devoted whole weeks to aiding their political brothers seeking office in the Legislature.

WORKS BILL TO-MORROW

Introduction of supplementary estimates, the last of the session, was one of the first things scheduled for this afternoon. To-morrow the public works bill, the one important measure still not before the House, will likely make its appearance. The government stated it had refrained from bringing it in during the provincial election campaigns in order to avoid making it a subject of political controversy or being accused of attempting to influence the elections.

STEVENS IN CAMPAIGN

Lindsay, Ont., June 18.—Hon. H. H. Stevens, who entered the Ontario general election campaign in its closing stages, announced today that he had accepted the nomination of the Conservative Party for the riding of Hastings.

Trade in various products with the United Kingdom jumped two, three, four and five times by reason of the fact, said the federal Minister of Trade and Commerce in speeches here and in Cannington on Saturday.

He denied the claim of M. F. Hepburn, Ontario Liberal leader, that the Conservative Party were the "friends of the big interests." "I leave you to judge whether or not I am a friend of the big interests," he said. "I know one or two who do not think so."

RETURN BY RADIO

Toronto, June 18.—In response to county-wide interest in the provincial general election to-morrow in Ontario and Saskatchewan, the Canadian Radio-Broadcasting Commission has arranged to provide listeners on its networks with Canadian Press bulletins on the returns as compiled.

Programmes have been arranged to permit interjection of election bulletins every twenty or thirty minutes. The broadcasts, to be carried over coast-to-coast hook-ups, will begin shortly after the close of polls in both provinces at 7 o'clock, P.S.T., and will continue until after midnight or until the elections are decided. The bulletins will include election party standings and brief bulletins on the general trend, with concise information on the result in each constituency.

BODY FOUND AT STATION

Remains of Woman in London May Be Those of Agnes Tuferson, N.Y.

Associated Press

Brighton, Eng., June 18.—The torso of a woman's body, from which the head, arms and legs were severed, was found yesterday evening in a trunk in the luggage office of the Brighton railway station.

The woman was thought by police to have been about forty years old. Her height possibly was five feet two or three inches. The body appeared well nourished.

The body, which was unclothed, bore no wounds other than those incurred in the severance of the head, arms and legs.

DATE OF DEATH

Physicians, although unable to determine definitely the date of the woman's death, thought it must have been about the middle of May. Brighton records show no woman is missing in this vicinity.

The gruesome find was made Sunday evening but was not announced until to-day.

Scotland Yard was not communicative concerning either the discovery of the torso or the strange case of missing Miss Agnes Tuferson of New York and Detroit, but the police report did not indicate any connection between the two cases as seen.

TRUNK FOUND IN VIENNA

Vienna, June 18.—In the apartment of Capt. Ivan Pederjær here to-day police found a green wardrobe trunk containing clothes of Miss Agnes Tuferson, missing New York and Detroit lawyer. In the trunk was a brief case marked with her name.

Pederjær, who married Miss Tuferson in New York last December, has been in custody here for some days. Susanne Ferrand, who had been living here with Pederjær as his wife, was immediately arrested.

The brief case contained two books. One of them was on the art of love and the other was on birth control. The garments in the trunk included a black fur coat and a black velvet jacket.

Discovery of the trunk was made simultaneously with searches conducted in both London and New York for a mysterious trunk said to have been owned by Miss Tuferson.

SEARCH FOR GIRL ENDS IN SUCCESS

New York, June 18.—Louise Krist, a talented eighteen-year-old girl who had been missing since June 2, was found by police to-day in company of Childs de Rohan d'Harcourt, painter and writer.

Success came after a two weeks' search for the young poetess, who left a Greenwich Village poetry reading the night of June 1 with a man described by authorities as a bogus nobleman and an ex-convict.

D'Harcourt, known sometimes as "The Count" and "The Prince," departed from the reading, other poets there said, with Miss Krist, an attractive brunette, after protests had been made to her about leaving with him.

BATTLE ENDS CUBAN PARADE

Machine-guns Ambush ABC March in Havana, Killing Twelve

Associated Press

Havana, June 18.—Retaliation by infuriated members of the ABC Society was feared to-day after Cuba's "Bloody Sunday," in which twelve persons were killed and nearly sixty wounded.

A heavy guard was placed around the emergency hospital on reports the ABC planned to storm it and wreak vengeance on four wounded men.

Deep political significance was attached to the two days of rioting, which left a total of fifteen dead and culminated yesterday in a parade that was turned suddenly into a slaughter.

A postponement of the government's plan to hold a general election in December appeared likely.

Guerrilla warfare, carried on intermittently for months, reached a climax when 50,000 members of the ABC Society, a powerful political organization, marched through the principal streets, the big moment of a two-day fiesta enemies had sworn to break up.

The attack by enemies of the society came as a complete surprise. A shrill whistle sounded and then shots whizzed into the boulevard from side streets. A number of marchers, including several women, fell, dead or dying.

The machine-gun assault apparently had been carefully pre-arranged and timed to create a maximum of terror among the onlookers.

The wildest pandemonium reigned and police cars and ambulances raced through the crossfire of bullets to pick up victims.

Gasoline Tanks at Jamestown, N.Y., Explode; Deaths May Total 20

Associated Press

Jamestown, N.Y., June 18.—Between twelve and twenty persons were reported killed, and from forty to fifty injured here this afternoon when three 20,000-gallon gasoline tanks exploded while a crowd of several hundred persons was watching firemen battle a blaze believed caused by an electric spark.

A reporter of The Jamestown Evening Journal estimated the death toll might reach a score. He said many were lying in the field where the crowd had gathered to watch the fire. All ambulances in the city were called, and the Jamestown fire department called for help from nearby small communities.

The tanks belonged to the Richfield Oil Company. The property is located just inside the city limits on the road to Bemus Point.

MAN SLAIN BY ABDUCTORS

Body of Dr. H. L. Meyers, Wealthy Dentist, Found on Farm in Illinois

Associated Press

Eldorado, Ill., June 18.—Dr. H. L. Meyers, fifty-five, wealthy Eldorado dentist, was found shot to death on a farm near here to-day, apparently the victim of a kidnapping and robbery plot.

The body of the dentist, shot through the back, was found by Deputy Ha Choiser and A. M. Mitchell, a photographer, culminating an all-night search after the dentist had failed to return home.

Mrs. Meyers said the doctor left Eldorado Sunday to look over some real estate.

Company Meyers said she sought to accompany him and Lee Armstrong, but that on the insistence of the latter she remained at home. Dr. Meyers' office was ransacked between Saturday night and early to-day.

Method of Using Alcohol From Grain Surplus Would Slightly Increase Cost to Auto Driver, Scientists' Report Indicates

Canadian Press

Ottawa, June 18.—Seeking new uses for Canada's now over-abundant supply of wheat, scientists are investigating the possibility of using 25,000,000 bushels of wheat every year to drive motor cars. After further study of the possibility of using alcohol made from grain as a motor fuel, the National Research Laboratories have issued a revised report bringing the information available up to date.

If one-tenth of the annual consumption of motor fuel in Canada were replaced by alcohol made from wheat, the report estimates, some 25,000,000 bushels would be needed. A survey shows the use of mixed motor fuels is increasing in Europe and is being seriously considered in the United States.

COST QUESTION

In a discussion of this possibility, the report estimates it would increase the cost of motor fuel by approximately two or three cents a gallon, assuming the use of No. 3 wheat at 60 cents per bushel, Fort William basis.

Engine tests carried out in the National Research Laboratories with mixtures containing 5, 10 and 15 per cent alcohol show alcohol is an excellent anti-knock agent. The 15 per cent blend gave somewhat more power than gasoline alone, but fuel consumption was higher. It is suggested the use of alcohol might render unnecessary the importation and use of tetraethyl lead as an anti-knock compound.

In the near future motor fuel made by the hydrogenation of coal may be also a competitor in the motor fuel market, the report notes. This will be finally demonstrated in the course of a year or two as a result of a plant being built in England under a subsidy arrangement with the British Government.

Tourist Pendulum Requires Changing

There will investigate. There is also the travel by way of the Alberta boundary, which is not recorded by the customs, as well as the holiday passenger travel, ocean travel from California, yacht parties and so forth. While numerous estimates have been made of this business it is always very difficult to compile an accurate figure.

Tourist officials are firm in the belief that two things are needed to restore the trade: First, more aggressive and more extensive advertising; second, better road surfaces throughout the province, especially on the main trunk highways which do not compare with those

SEES DANGER OF CLASS WAR

Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin Gives Warning Against Mosleyites in Britain

Canadian Press
Ottawa, June 18.—The danger of a "real class war" was envisaged in a speech by Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin, Lord President of the Council, Saturday evening, in which he warned followers of the National Government against being tempted to join the fascists.

"You may get in this country what ever occurred before—a real class war," he said.

He asserted there had been a marked increase in the number of communists since Fascism became more active.

"If you have this country divided into two private armies," he added, "each desiring to get their way by oppression and force, you will have all the raw material for a civil war, beg followers of mine who may be tempted, to think twice or three times before joining another pack."

Positively PRETTY Now

A "blood test" was the means of finding new strength, vigor and sanity. She was one of several new-par patients who recently went to a reputable physician in search of a treatment that would build up their impoverished blood streams.

The physician's test showed that this particular young woman's blood was deficient in haemoglobin and red corpuscles. This meant that there was not sufficient vitalizing oxygen being carried through her blood stream to build up body cells and ease the system of poisons. As a result she felt tired out, run-down, and distressingly weak.

Knowing the value and safety of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills as a treatment for increasing haemoglobin, the physician instructed the patient to take this remedy and to return in a month's time for another blood test.

She did so—and the physician found that her haemoglobin was practically normal and her blood count actually above normal. Her eight was up and her color improved. As the doctor expressed it: her face "ad rounded out and she was positively pretty."

In other cases blood tests have proved the efficiency of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in building up haemoglobin and thereby restoring pep, vigor and strength to adults, young girls and weak children. Take no chances try this "blood-tested" preparation. At drug stores—50 cents a package. (Adv.)

TARIFF BOARD FAILURE SEEN

Manchester Guardian Comments on Canadian Supreme Court Ruling

Canadian Press
London, June 18.—The recent decision of the Canadian Supreme Court on the powers of the Canadian Tariff Board "means that any benefits for our manufacturers will be postponed indefinitely, or at least as long as Prime Minister Bennett remains in office," asserted The Manchester Guardian today in an editorial.

"Nobody will deny that Canada did pretty well out of the Ottawa agreement with the United Kingdom," the newspaper said. "But what has this country obtained in return?"

"The most substantial gain was supposed to be the Canadian government's promise to establish a tariff board to recommend reductions in duties on British imports so as to permit reasonable competition with the Canadian manufacturers."

"Now comes the news the Supreme Court has ruled the Tariff Board has no power to do anything at all unless the Ministry of National Revenue chooses to take notice of its recommendations. It is common knowledge the ministry is thoroughly opposed to taking any notice of such recommendations, even of the board's compulsory mild advice that arbitrary valuations on certain British goods should be abolished."

"Everyone who has studied the history of the board and recommendations of the past nine months is well aware the government has used every device to prevent its doing anything."

OXFORD GROUP AND BUSINESS

President of Vancouver Stock Exchange Addresses Audience in Toronto

Canadian Press
Toronto, June 18.—"Is there not a challenge to each of us who is serving on boards of companies, to give every shareholder an equal chance?" asked A. E. Jukes, president of the Vancouver Stock Exchange, at a luncheon tendered the Oxford Group Team and Toronto clergymen, Saturday, by S. J. Moore.

Mr. Jukes, wondering "how many directors really believe they are trustees for the shareholders and whether they are strictly honest in using information for their own advantage, such as in playing the stock market at the expense of the other shareholders."

Application of Christ's principles to social and business problems was "the only solution for social unrest," said Richard Bell-Irving of Vancouver. Parents should not ask their children to follow the Christian principles of honesty, purity, unselfishness and love unless they themselves were ready to do so. Complete unanimity and happiness in the home were essential.

WIDE SEARCH FOR WOMAN

Brilliant New York Attorney Disappeared After Marriage to Yugoslavian

Associated Press
Vienna, June 18.—Police to-day found a green wardrobe trunk containing clothes of Miss Agnes Tufverson, missing New York and Detroit lawyer, and a brief case marked with her name in the apartment of Capt. Ivan Poderjaj, the man who married her last December at New York.

New York, June 18.—What has become of the brilliant woman attorney, Agnes Tufverson, who vanished last December a few days after she had become the bride of a handsome Yugoslavian?

The disappearance of Miss Tufverson has developed into a such a bizarre mystery that to-day, more than five months after she last was seen perplexed authorities have extended the inquiry to three continents—Europe, America and Asia.

A sister, Miss Sally Tufverson, resides in Montreal.

She was last seen after a quiet marriage in New York to Ivan Ivanovitch Poderjaj, now under arrest in Vienna. He at first denied the marriage, but when confronted with evidence admitted it had taken place. The couple had met in Scotland, while Miss Tufverson was on a vacation.

Together they left her Gramercy Park apartment on December 20, and set out in a taxicab for a Hudson River Pier. They were never seen for Europe on a honeymoon.

HUSBAND REAPPEARS
Two days later Poderjaj reappeared at the apartment and casually told attendants:
"My wife has gone on ahead of me. I shall see her when I get to Europe."

Authorities here, some of whom believe Miss Tufverson is dead, have sent an urgent cablegram to Vienna requesting the self-styled captain not be released under any circumstances.

Miss Tufverson had $25,000 on deposit in a New York bank before her disappearance.

Police here hurried their investigations with orders to witnesses not to talk.

PODERJAJ'S STORY
Vienna, June 18.—While a search for Agnes Tufverson, Detroit and New York attorney, went on in three continents, Ivan Poderjaj, self-styled Yugoslavian captain, stuck to his story to-day he had not seen her since several weeks after their marriage in New York last December.

Miss Tufverson, sister of Miss Sally Tufverson of Montreal, dropped from sight in January, after calling her sister she was going to India.

Authorities here, holding Poderjaj at the request of New York police, said he firmly maintained they had quarreled because of her insistence she accompany him to England, although he told her he had a wife there.

Clues in the mystery are being sought in London, New York and India.

TARIFF BOARD LIMITS SET

Supreme Court of Canada Gives Reasons Judgment Handed Down Last Week

Canadian Press
Ottawa, June 18.—The Tariff Board, when operating under part 2 of the Tariff Board Act, is in no sense a court; it is not a judicial body, only administrative, with functions that are "purely departmental" and related only to questions of fact, according to the reasons for judgment delivered by the Supreme Court of Canada in regard to the Tariff Board. The reasons for judgment, signed by Mr. Justice Rinfret, represent the unanimous opinion of the six judges of the Supreme Court who heard the government's reference.

These were Mr. Justice Rinfret, Duff, the chief justice; Mr. Justice Rinfret, Mr. Justice Lamont, Mr. Justice Cannon, Mr. Justice Crockett and Mr. Justice Hughes.

In its judgment the Supreme Court decided the tariff board had no authority to determine questions of law as distinct from questions of fact. A second decision was that the board had no authority to annul orders of the ministers of national revenue which fixed valuations for duty purposes on British goods, even although such orders were issued prior to a Customs Act amendment which rescinded the minister's power to do so. Third, the Supreme Court ruled that, under part 2 of the Tariff Board Act, the decisions of the board with respect to appraisals were subject to the approval of the minister.

The kernel of the whole issue lay in part 2 of the act, according to judges. Under that section the powers, functions and duties of the board of customs were assigned to the tariff board.

The questions and matters submitted to this court have referred only to the powers of the tariff board under part 2 of the Tariff Board Act," say the reasons for judgment. "And, in course of these reasons, it should therefore be borne in mind that we are dealing only with that part of the act."

SYSTEM REVIEWED
The entire system of customs administration is briefly reviewed, the conclusion being arrived at that since the tariff board became the substitute for the board of customs "it is a branch of the department of national revenue." The power of appraisal reviews, formerly vested in the board of customs, became vested in the tariff board.

In the opinion of the court that power of review is limited to the estimation and appraisal of goods at the true market value as to "the principal markets of the country."

"The decision of the board in the exercise of this power is expressly made final and conclusive only when approved by the minister except as otherwise provided by the act," the judgment says.

DIRECTED BY MINISTER
The tariff board "simply enters into the scheme devised by parliament for the control and management of collection of the duties of customs and of matters incidental thereto, primarily put by the act respecting the Department of National Revenue under the direction, the regulation and the supervision of the minister who presides over that department."

"There is nothing in the Customs Act which purports to exclude from the jurisdiction of the ordinary courts any question of law, either with regard to the validity of the minister's act or otherwise; nor is any such jurisdiction conferred on the Board of Customs (now the Tariff Board, part 2). It followed that, in the performance of its duties under part 2, the board must give effect to the orders of the Minister of National Revenue, and moreover that its decisions are subject to the approval of the minister, by whose orders the board is bound as the responsible head of the department."

FOR COURT TO DECIDE
On the matter of the second question, as to whether the board had power to annul the minister's order, issued prior to the amendment which rescinded the authority of the minister to make the order, the court has this to say:

"The point, as it presents itself, is really not so much whether the orders of the minister were repealed or cancelled by the act c. 97 of 23 George V, but rather, whether the orders-in-council by virtue of which the minister's orders were issued, were themselves annulled by the coming into force of the act. We find nothing in the Customs Act giving the Board of Customs (now the Tariff Board) jurisdiction to determine a question of that character. In the present state of the legislation, the determination of that question is undoubtedly vested in the Exchequer Court of Canada."

Commenting on section 48 of the Customs Act, which authorizes the Dominion appraiser or the Tariff Board to make fresh appraisements, when it appears to them goods have been erroneously appraised, the court said as follows:

"The enactment does not intend to confer jurisdiction to deal with anything but physical value of facts. Of course, in so doing, the Dominion appraiser, or the board, must be guided by a certain view of the law; but in so far as they are concerned, the law includes the order-in-council and the orders of the minister."

"In no way are they authorized to dispute the validity of those orders and far less to determine the conditions of that validity or to pronounce on any other question of law which, in the case of conflict between the crown and the importer, are left to the determination of the courts of justice. To put it in plain words, the Dominion appraiser, or the board, acting under section 48, is empowered to make appraisals, and not rulings."

SPEEDING UP OF SEEDS IS STUDIED

By F. B. Colton, Associated Press Science Writer
Washington, June 18.—A scientific feat that is almost the equivalent of abolishing winter—a new kind of rejuvenation process for seeds that promises to be of immediate benefit to farmers—has been accomplished by the United States Department of Agriculture.

It has found that the longer wavelengths of light, the red, orange and yellow rays, have the almost miraculous power of rousing seeds from their winter's dormant state, a sort of living death, and start them growing several months ahead of schedule. This new process of "near-resurrection" was discovered and developed by Dr. L. H. Flink.

FREAK LITTER OF RABBITS

Kitchener, Ont., June 18.—Lloyd Stry of this city is owner of a litter of rabbits that comprises a miniature freak show. Four of the five Angoras were deformed at birth and three of them are alive and well with three months of life behind them.

One has no ears at all, another has only one ear, while a third had half an ear and but one front leg. The fourth was minus a back foot, but it died.

The rabbit with the one front leg is the liveliest of the lot, and seems to navigate just as well as his more fortunate brethren.

"Those cubes," said Lavarre, "were caught when their mother was shot by a Watral hunter in the high mountains of the Guiana frontier."

URGE AIR CHIEF BE DISMISSED

U.S. House Committee Recommends Maj.-Gen. B. D. Foulois Cease to Be Head

Associated Press
Washington, June 18.—A unanimous and formal recommendation for the immediate removal of Major-General Benjamin D. Foulois as chief of the United States Army Air Corps was before the Secretary of War today. The recommendation was made Saturday by a House of Representatives investigating committee of eight members.

The report, which also will be presented to President Roosevelt this week, accused the general of "dishonesty," "gross misconduct," "inefficiency," "inaccuracy," "unreliability," "incompetency" and "mismanagement." And after praising the "young men" who fly army planes under Foulois's direction, the report concluded:

"We find it necessary to report that we are most firmly convinced from the evidence and record submitted, that before any substantial progress in the upbuilding of the morale and material of the army air corps can be obtained, Major-General Benjamin D. Foulois must be relieved from his position as chief of the air corps."

"We unanimously recommend that the Secretary of Air take such action without delay."

The report was submitted to the House by a military affairs subcommittee which has been studying army purchases for four months.

A "glaring example of mismanagement and inefficiency" on the part of Gen. Foulois, the committee said, "is apparent from his actions of failures to act in connection with the plans and preparations prior to army transportation of the air mail."

HON. C. H. ARCHER DIES IN MONTREAL

Served Twenty-three Years As Judge of Supreme Court of Quebec

Canadian Press
Montreal, June 18.—Hon. Charles Hector Archer, retired judge of the Superior Court of the province of Quebec, died at his home here early this morning, aged sixty-five. He had been ill for a lengthy period.

When on September 1, 1933, Mr. Justice Charles Hector Archer retired from the bench, he terminated a connection with the legal profession extending over forty-one years. For twenty-three of those years he served as a jurist, presiding over some of the most important civil actions tried in the province of Quebec during that era. From 1926 to 1928 he held the position of judge of the Exchequer Court of Canada, Quebec admiralty division.

Charles Hector Archer was born in Quebec City, March 30, 1869, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Archer.

Appearances before the Privy Council, in London, established this reputation overseas and in 1911 Mr. Justice Archer visited the empire capital as one of the Canadian guests at the coronation of King George V. On several occasions he was called on by the government to serve on royal commissions inquiring into vexed legal issues.

Educational matters were close to his heart, and he was one of the citizens of the province who supported the unsuccessful campaign for a compulsory school attendance law in 1920. His signature appears on the petition addressed to Archbishop Bruchési in that year.

In 1897 Mr. Archer, then an advocate, united himself with one of the old seigniorial families of French Canada by his marriage to Therese de Salaberry.

Funeral of E. W. King Held at Cumberland

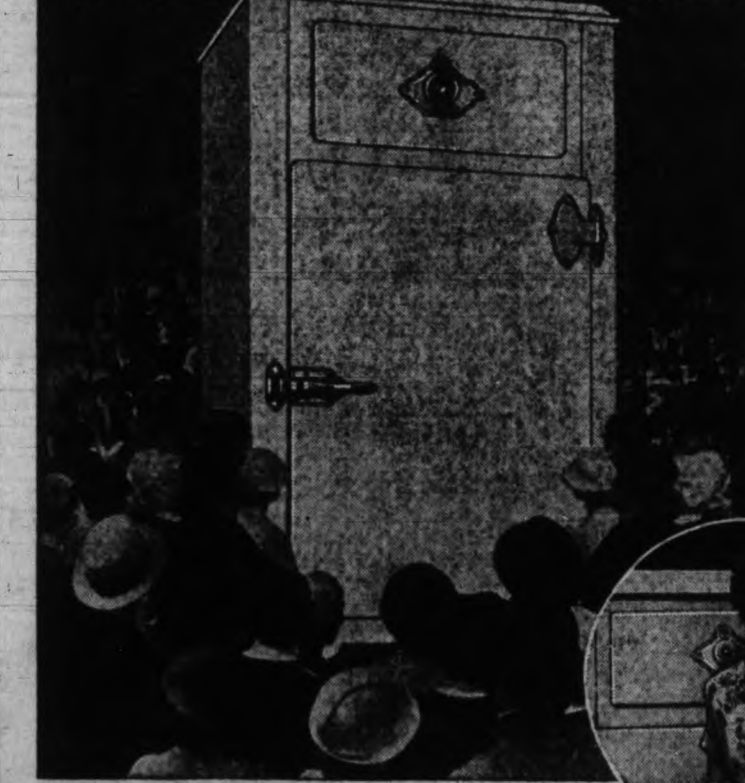

Cumberland, June 18.—Funeral services were held last Wednesday at Cumberland for Ernest Warwick King who passed away suddenly last Sunday from ptomaine poisoning. He was only 31 a few hours, and his death was a great shock to his family and neighbors. Born in London, England, the only son of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. T. King, he came to B.C. in 1910 with his parents, settling first near Cumberland and moving to Union Bay in 1916. He was an employee of the Canadian Collieries. He leaves the widow, one daughter, Dorothy, and his father. Funeral services were conducted by the Rev. M. F. Eby, and pallbearers were Robert McKay, Louis Magnon, Al Stasek, David Haggart, Peter Reid, all of Union Bay, and Everett Muford of Vancouver.

HITLER ON THE SPOT

FORMER CHANCELLOR, NOW VICE-CHANCELLOR. Franz von Papen of Germany has thrown a bombshell into the Nazi camp in the form of open criticism of Nazi policies—an offence of the gravest kind in the Fascist conception of propriety. He was speaking before the students of Marburg University to whom he made the significant statement that he was being more and more pressed "by voices which demand that I take a positive stand concerning events transpiring in Germany and the conditions obtaining here."

No Berlin newspapers printed even an excerpt of the Vice-Chancellor's address, and notice was served by the government-controlled news bureau upon its subscribers that the speech must not be published in Germany. For the time being this will keep the great majority of the German public in ignorance of Von Papen's sensational outburst. But it will be only a matter of a few days before foreign newspapers with full reports of the address will circulate all over the Nazi realm.

Among the chief points of Nazi policy to which Von Papen expressed opposition was the muzzling of the press. "The press," he contended, "is no longer a safety valve. The real purpose of the press would seem to be to inform the government of defects that have crept in and point out where corruption has secured a berth, where serious mistakes have been made, where unfit men have been put in wrong places, and where sins are being committed against the spirit of the German revolution."

Of far-reaching significance also was the Vice-Chancellor's attack on the imposition of the Nazi will in the realm of religion. He expounded the truism that statesmen can reform the state but not life itself. "The state must decide," Von Papen asserted, "whether it wishes to be religious or worldly. There is a struggle ahead as to whether the new Reich or the Germans shall be Christian or lose itself in sect spirit and semi-religious materialism. Let there be no mistake about the fact that a fight on religion will release forces which even force can not break."

Von Papen's criticism of the attempt to have one political party rule will be an inspiration to those many millions of Social Democrats and Centrists and others who have had to remain silent under Nazi political decrees. The last election, of course, was one of the most farcical ever held in the Reich, and the Reichstag is merely the occasional meeting place for transacting governmental formalities, to all intents an unnecessary proceeding under the existing system. Germany is under one political party rule and Von Papen, noting no doubt the effect Germany's domestic policies is having on the outside world, naturally considers that a first-class nation of 65,000,000 people should not tolerate the sort of government which Hitler has imposed upon them.

Whatever may have inspired Von Papen to break all the rules of the party of which he, officially, at any rate, is second in command, it is clear that something is going on in political Germany of which the outside public is only meagrely informed. His address, however, is a distinct intimation that Hitler's stock has fallen many points in recent days. He is not getting the acclaim at great public gatherings that he was getting only a few months ago. Dispatches from Italy reported that his reception was not nearly as warm as might have been expected; and the Duke found it difficult to get him down to facts.

How disillusioned Hitler is after his conference with Premier Mussolini the world is not permitted to know. What the world will watch for now, however, is the Chancellor's reaction and the reaction of his ardent supporters to the speech of the Vice-Chancellor. Had one less prominent in the public life of the country delivered such an address, he would by this time have been in one of those delightful concentration camps to which Hitler sends all those who dare to speak out of turn.

In any event, Vice-Chancellor Franz von Papen has put Chancellor Adolf Hitler fairly on the spot, and some lively repercussions may be expected. While Von Papen may not represent that considerable element in Germany which would defend the Weimar constitution with its blood if it had the opportunity, he is far-sighted enough to realize that any government which takes hold of a nation by the throat will have to relax its hold eventually and suffer the consequences. The lessons of history were behind the Marburg speech.

FAIRY TALES

POLITICIANS SAY MANY THINGS DURING election campaigns and as a rule a lot of them are not serious and leave scarcely any impression behind them, but when such a prominent member of the Dominion cabinet as Hon. H. H. Stevens says, as he said at Lindsay, Ont., on Saturday, "the markets of the world were closed to Canada during the period Mr. King held office at Ottawa," he is making a statement which trade statistics published under his own authority definitely refute.

On pages 520 and 521 of The Canada Year Book, an annual publication issued by authority of Hon. H. H. Stevens, Minister of Trade and Commerce, it is shown that for the twelve months ending March 31, 1922, three months after the King government took office, Canada's external trade was worth $1,488,000,000. Seven years afterwards, in 1929, this total had grown to $2,629,300,000. Twelve months ago, nearly three years after Mr. Bennett took office, Canada's external trade had dwindled to $880,000,000, approximately equalling the figure of twenty years ago. It is now about $1,019,000,000, very much less than half the total of 1929. The government of which Mr. Stevens is a member is not responsible for the whole of this reduction; but it did actually close many of the world's markets by its tariff policies.

VICTORIA SHOULD HAVE ONE

AFTER VIEWING PORTLAND'S COL- orful pageant Mayor Leeming is convinced that Victoria should have a similar annual festival. In this opinion he is altogether right, for this city possesses all of the elements necessary to a very successful pageant. It has an unexampled scenic setting, a wealth of floral beauty and a populace which, like that of Portland, prides itself on its natural attractions. It also enjoys an international reputation for these advantages, a condition which makes it imperative that we should undertake no celebration which is not entirely worthy of them.

Portland is known all over the continent for its rose festival. Its prominence for that reason far exceeds that of many other larger and more populous communities. Victoria can achieve a similar eminence by this means, and we suggest to the Mayor and our public agencies that they endeavor to organize this city for an annual spectacle on some appropriate occasion which will take its place among the notable pageants of the continent.

Both Victoria and Vancouver were conspicuously represented at Portland's show, which assumed a striking international aspect from the meeting there of the Canadian Legion, the arresting participation of the Dominion Mounted Police, the presence of the Lieutenant-Governor of this province and ministers of his government, the mayors and aldermen and other officials of our cities, numerous bands from this side of the line and a large number of private citizens who thoroughly enjoyed themselves.

AN ECONOMIC LOSS

THE DESTRUCTION OF THE MOORE and Whittington mill by fire on Thursday night is generally deplored, not only on account of the loss it imposed upon an old and highly-respected firm, but also because it created an important gap in the economic life of the city. At the time of the fire the company was filling a number of orders for overseas business, and was contemplating the prospect of something in the nature of a trade revival. It is to be hoped that the establishment which will rise from the ashes will have an even more imposing and successful basis than that which existed before the outbreak.

The fire department won high tribute for the gallant way in which it tackled its most formidable task in recent years, particularly in preventing the spread of the flames to other inflammable material and averting a widespread conflagration. In this fight several firemen were injured, who fortunately are progressing favorably.

ONTARIO AND SASKATCHEWAN

WHAT THE ELECTORS DO IN ON- tario and Saskatchewan to-morrow may determine the election policy of the Bennett government. The contests in the two provinces have aroused intense interest in federal circles at Ottawa because of the vigor with which the campaigns have been conducted and because of their potential effect on the fortunes of parties in the Dominion political arena.

Under redistribution in both Ontario and Saskatchewan the number of seats has been reduced, in the former from 112 to ninety, and in the latter from sixty-three to fifty-five. Ontario electors will be able to choose ninety from 262 aspirants. Saskatchewan will select its fifty-five from 167 candidates. In the prairie province one election will be deferred until July 24.

The leaders of the two major parties in Ontario are Premier Henry, Conservative, and Mr. Mitchell F. Hepburn, Liberal. This is Mr. Henry's first appeal as Premier. He succeeded Hon. Howard Ferguson in 1930. Mr. Hepburn has been a member of the Dominion House, but resigned recently to take active leadership of the provincial Liberal forces.

Mr. Anderson in Saskatchewan has served nearly five years as Premier of that province which he has governed with the assistance of Independents. At dissolution there were twenty-six Liberals and twenty-four Conservatives. The Liberal leader, Mr. Gardiner, succeeded former Premier Dunning on the latter's entry into the federal arena. Mr. M. J. Coldwell is the leader of the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation party which has entered a full slate of candidates.

In both provinces the question of government financing has been very much to the fore. All kinds of accusations have been flung from the platform by opposition speakers and just as vehemently denied by the governments seeking endorsement to-morrow. Mr. Hepburn has made much of the fact that Ontario's debt has grown from $350,000,000 in 1923, when Mr. Ferguson took office, to its present figure of approximately $611,000,000. Mr. Gardiner is at a loss to understand why Saskatchewan's debt has increased by $80,000,000 under the Anderson regime.

As in most elections, personalities have been freely indulged in. Mr. Henry in Ontario, for example, has continually referred to the Liberal leader as "Young Mr. Hepburn" as if he were too young and inexperienced to be trusted with the task of governing such a large and important province. But Mr. Hepburn seems to have done very well in his campaigning.

The smoke of the campaign will have vanished to-night. All sides, of course, are confident of victory.

$500 A MINUTE
 The Brantford Expositor

Mrs. F. D. Roosevelt, wife of the President, was recently paid $3,000 for a six-minute broadcast and expects to receive other payments of $500 a minute for like orations. She turns all such earnings over to charitable objects but the rate of her remuneration cannot be regarded as otherwise than a hysterical manifestation.

HIGHWAY LIGHTING
 The Toronto Telegram

An experiment in highway illumination is to be undertaken by the Department of Public Works on a one-mile stretch of road in the Niagara district. Hydro engineers will co-operate. If the trial meets expectations the area may be extended until all the improved main lines of vehicular traffic in the province are lighted.

The proposed lighting scheme may, of course, be considered somewhat ambitious. Its feasibility must largely depend on the question of cost. In this connection the fact that Ontario has the lowest priced electricity available anywhere on this continent should have a favorable bearing on the ultimate decision.

Loose Ends

There is comfort across the Bay if you have eyes to behold it—the natives of that distant city live a curious sort of life—there are issues to settle—and the broom marches.

COMFORT

THE PARLIAMENT BUILDINGS, where I go frequently these days on business, is very comforting at this season, both inside and out. Inside it is cheering to the ordinary elector to observe how his rulers, whom he elected, are cooped up in their stone prison, struggling with the problems of state while he may go free outside in the sunshine. It is sufficient compensation for one's own obscurity and unimportant place in the world to observe how the paths of greatness lead only into solitary confinement in this glorious summer weather, how ministers of state must grapple with figures and musty documents while we may be out picking cherries or wedding onions.

No one who visits the Parliament Buildings these days and sees what a miserable time they have over there, while we luxuriate in the glories of a Victorian June, will ever go into politics. In the winter it is cosy in office and the pay is good, but I can never understand how we can keep our governments from running out on us in the summer. Yet no one seems to appreciate their patriotic sufferings.

Outside, the lawns of the Parliament Buildings are still more encouraging. Whenever I despair of my own lawn, whenever the weeds seem to be getting the better of me and the grass drying out, I go and look at the lawns of the Parliament Buildings which cost thousands of dollars to install, which are the pampered darlings of the state. I go and look at the dandelions, the grass-robber and the thousand other various weeds through which a few gallant blades of grass are still fighting a losing battle, and when I come home, my own little lawn looks wondrously clean and verdant. The Parliament Buildings are a great comfort at this season.

CURIOUS PLACE

DURING MY RECENT travels I was in a curious little city, the exact location of which I forget at the moment. Anyway, it was some kind of a centre of government, for it had a gigantic stone monolith, sprouting from the landscape, capped by a hideous green dome and sprouting corpulent statues from every nook and cranny. Yet the people there imagined it was a superb piece of architecture.

It was curious to observe the habits of the natives of this place compared with the sanity of our own community. The city fronted on a great body of water and commanded a superb view of the distant mountains, yet as we drove along its waterfront one afternoon, when the view was at its best, all we could see were two old men in a car observing the scenery, and the car had come from a distant state. Not one native of the place apparently was interested in a spectacle which must have few equals in the world.

The same condition was apparent in the city's park, a superb wooded area, gay with flowers and birds. Except for a few children on the swings the place was utterly deserted.

The contrasts of poverty and riches which are so alien to our democracy were strikingly apparent as we continued our drive. Not a hundred yards from a magnificent golf links, where rich men's limousines were parked outside a luxurious clubhouse, we saw two poor ragged fellows and a little boy wheeling sticks of wood for fuel to their wretched hovels from the beach.

Further along some great stone gates apparently marked the end of the common people's section of the city and the area devoted exclusively to the rich, who enjoyed superior

ANOTHER CHEERING feature of the city at this season, which I forgot to mention above, is the triumphant march of the broom. Unfortunately I was away when it was in bloom, but I perceive that, as they will to stop its progress, it marches on and on. They cut away tons of it from Beacon Hill a few years ago, wrecking one of the great spectacles of America, but I observe that it is swarming back again like a returning tide. It has covered Mount Tolmie, is breaking over Mount Douglas in a vast wave, and has surged up both sides of the Island Highway until one drives in the spring through two walls of gold.

They will cut more of it out in future. People will curse it as a dangerous weed and its beauty, like that of the dandelion, will be entirely overlooked, because it is a nuisance. But nothing will stop it. Long after our civilization has perished and the golden statue of Captain Vancouver is discovered by some foreign race lying mysteriously among a pile of grey stones in a rank jungle across James Bay, the broom will still be here and the newcomers, perhaps, will appreciate it. Let them cut and burn and curse it now. We broom lovers know now that it is safe beyond men's reach.

Other People's Views

INDIGENT CHINESE

To the Editor:—I feel compelled to place plainly before the public some facts so that they may know about the indigent Chinese. Since December, 1933, I have operated under the Dominion provincial and city governments, that includes all Chinese, women and children are rationed, keeping homes together and out of the little jobs they habitually had. I did not accept the system in full, as done in Vancouver. There is no need to do so. As Chinese men are allowed 20 cents per day for food, my contract reads, "2500 accepted for sixty or over"; in the winter registering about seventy-five to seventy-eight, two meals being served, and for under sixty, I can claim only 20 cents per day. That covers all overhead—rent, telephone, electricity and gas and wages, scrubbing material, etc. That means I manage to feed, when seventy-five are fed, on $250, instead of $450.

I was not limited by the government. I made my terms, and a sitting-room, with daily Chinese papers, adjoined, which was open daily from November 1, 1933, to May 1, 1934. No man is refused a meal—but my investigation is thorough and I am not allowed to feed any but Victoria men.

When Vancouver men hold a card with relief cards, demanding meals, I have always offered the next meal, but informing them that they must return from where they came, and if they have money to travel and fortunate in having relief cards from other places, they must return.

There has been too much trouble among the Chinese in Vancouver to welcome them at any price, and I am writing this letter to inform kind-hearted people of the fact that the Chinese man, woman, or child, need beg. Canada has done for the Oriental as for the white man. I am frequently asked, "Don't the Chinese do for each other?" They do—but business is as bad for Chinese as for the white man. Men willing to work in logging camps, canneries, are not permitted because they work cheaper than white labor permits, and British

DAVID SPENCER LIMITED

Columbia has a law that will allow no Oriental to have the most million government work.

We receive no donations, because it is so easy to say, "let the government do it," and when the plan was put through for householders to pledge all small jobs to white men, it threw many self-supporting Chinese out of the little jobs they habitually had. I beg of people when asked for food to give no money, and if a meal is supplied, to then send the men to the proper place. 1428 Government Street. Meal hours are 11 a.m. and 4 p.m. Any cases of illness are sent by me to any physician chosen, and all prescriptions are quickly filled, as I want them to the city health officer to be O.K'd, and filled at the best pharmacists. My services are given, and in two years and a half I have been absent not more than five full days.

An erroneous impression prevails that the houseboys in Oak Bay, Uxbridge, etc., give to us freely. Not a cent do they contribute at any time. At Christmas no organization gave much as a grain of rice. One gentleman has generously contributed cents monthly. I hope that no will get the impression I am making an appeal, as nothing is further from my mind. I merely want to make clear, that the relief is altogether government.

ACTION SPEAKS LOUDER THAN WORDS

To the Editor:—In reply to my letter dated May 18, my opinion how to put the relief men of City of Victoria to work at a wage and also pay a revenue to city is as follows:
 Providing we have to borrow money, and cannot borrow from City of Victoria, then let's borrow at a low rate of interest to build stadium at the corner of Douglas Street and Garibaldi Road, which naturally drained city property lying stagnant like all the relief men stagnant not paying one penny (Turn to Page 16, Col. 1)

The most thoughtful thing you will ever do

CONTINUE YOUR SALARY TO YOUR LOVED ONES

Think what it would mean to your family if you should cut off their regular household allowance for even a month. Then think what it would mean if their allowance was cut off altogether.

Even though you already have their future otherwise protected, the thoughtful thing to do is to make provision now that your salary will continue to be paid to your loved ones for a full year after you are gone.

Month by month they will receive the accustomed income enabling them to carry on the household in the customary manner—paying current bills, meeting rent or other obligations—while through the year they gradually adjust themselves to the new conditions of life.

Make this "Salary Continuance" policy a helpful part of your insurance program! It can be made to cover a longer period than one year if required. Learn the full details from our nearest Branch Office or write Head Office, Winnipeg.

CABARET HELD IN DUNCAN HALL

The "Dreaming" cabaret held at the Agricultural Hall, Duncan, on Friday evening, under the auspices of the Canadian Legion and the Duncan Studio Club, was a marked success.

Nanaimo Team Shows High Standard in Annual Competitions

Special to The Times

Nanaimo, June 18.—Two hundred and fifty contestants competed in the annual field day of the Vancouver Island Branch of the B.C. Mine Rescue Association at the Central Sports Grounds on Saturday. There were eight events, including one mine rescue and seven first aid competitions. Five teams were entered for the mine event, representing Cumberland, Nanaimo and South Wellington. In the first aid contests there were forty teams entered, including two from the Victoria Canadian Scottish.

Nanaimo contestants carried off the major honors in both the mine and first aid events. Matt Broderick's team of Nanaimo, won the mine rescue, shield with a full percentage of marks. This is the first occasion any competitor won the maximum points.

D. Stobbs' team, Nanaimo, won the Comox Logging Cup, for the fifth consecutive year for the first aid open event, thirteen teams competing.

Nanaimo teams won four first and five second, Cumberland won two first and two second, while South Wellington won two first and Victoria Canadian Scottish one second.

The prizes were presented to the winners in the evening in the Odd Fellows Hall by Hon. George Pearson, Minister of Mines. Mr. Pearson made an appeal to the competitors and officials to help stimulate interest in first aid work, which, he said, the Department of Mines and Labor desired to make more widespread among the other industries in the province. The speaker deplored the proper lack of first aid work in the logging industry, which, he said, was very hazardous. He instanced a case at Alberni where there were two large saw mills and several logging camps.

"Yet," he said, "I was shown the only ambulance they have in Alberni. It is an ordinary delivery truck, and there is very little, if any, first aid work being carried on in the way of classes."

R. Dunn Jr., Deputy Minister of Mines, presented certificates of efficiency to successful candidates for the mine rescue competitions. Mr. Dunn said his department appreciated the self-sacrifice that was made by the competitors in giving their time to gain these awards.

BUSINESS IS GOING AHEAD

Spalding Company Increases Its Staff 70 Per Cent, Says J. H. Freedman

Indicative of general business improvement, A. G. Spalding and Brothers Limited, internationally known firm of sporting goods manufacturers, has this year increased its manufacturing staff by 70 per cent, according to J. H. Freedman, general manager of the Canadian company, who is at the Empress Hotel to-day from Bramford, Ont.

He is accompanied here by George P. Shaw, "ambassador of True-Tenured Staffs," of Birmingham, England.

"Business is forging ahead very rapidly in the East with our plants at Bramford working at high pressure to fill orders," said Mr. Freedman. "We are well over it," he said of the depression. "There is no doubt of that. We took an $8,000,000 loss in three years," he continued, speaking of the Spalding organization, which has large manufacturing interests in the United States, Canada, the United Kingdom and in Australasia. "But we have taken all our frozen assets off the shelves and now we are sitting pretty," he added, pointing out that the company's business had increased 65 per cent.

Mr. Shaw is correspondingly enthusiastic concerning the recovery of business in the United Kingdom. The people across the "pond," he said, have forgotten all about the depression and are working unswervingly towards a new objective in business and industrial expansion.

DONNA of the BIG TOP

by BEULAH DOYNER

"You're my little girl, my eye lamb, Maddy. All the love that I had to give to three sons is now yours. When you left me something went out of my life. Young folks have new friends and amusements and a future to look forward to, but we old ones have only those we love, and we haven't the capacity for loving new persons. One's kin grows dearer with years. No matter what you are or did I would want you. I felt kind of bitter at first. Then when darkness brought a clear vision I understood. Strange, his voice trembled, 'how much understanding we afflicted ones are given. Sometimes I feel that I have been blessed in losing my eyesight.'"

Donna reached up, took his hand and pressed it against her damp cheek. "How wonderful you are. And to think—! Almost, she had said words that must never be spoken."

That hour in the gloaming brought them very close to each other, so close that she marvelled that the old man, with his inner vision, did not detect her deception. In that hour Donna determined that if her presence could bring Amos Sidal peace and happiness in his falling years she would never leave him, not even if Bill did marry another girl. Grandfather was dozing in his armchair on the porch and she was sitting motionless in the darkness when Bill returned.

"I didn't want to wake him," Donna said in a whisper when the young man threw away his cigarette and joined her.

"Where is Mrs. Planter? Neither of you should be out here at this hour."

"She said something about visiting a friend. But I didn't want to go to bed. The night is so lovely. I've been sitting here watching the stars and the fireflies and thinking how peaceful it is."

He sat down on the step at her feet. "Not lonely?"

"No. It's rather nice to be rid of Minnie for a while and have a chance to think. To-morrow I'm going to take a few steps if Dr. Sidal will permit."

"Why my permission?"

"Bill," she leaned forward, "why are you acting this way towards me? What have I done? Are you angry at something?"

"Good Lord, no! Of course not!"

"You were so kind at first. Then you changed, you act almost as if I've felt that I could walk if the splints were removed but you haven't done it, nor come near me."

"I'm not a doctor, Madeline. I've had a little training, but I'll send for—"

"How ridiculous," she interrupted. "You don't want to touch me—that's all. Ever since the day you brought me the wheel chair you've avoided me. Why?"

"What are you trying to do—get temperamental? I haven't avoided you. I've been busy. Harvesting takes all a man's time. I'm short of hands and there's been so much rain—I haven't time to neglect you. I thought you understood. I should have remembered that you are a star performer and used to all kinds of attention."

"How unkind to say that!"

"And I didn't mean it. It was a rotten thing to say. I think you are the loveliest thing God ever made and I've been trying to convince myself that everything will be just the same when you go back to the circus. But this place will be as dear as a morgue and that what was endurable before will be hell then. His voice was thick with bitterness."

"But if I don't go back?"

"Of course you will! What is there here for you? Spending a few weeks during the summer when you're laid up with a broken leg is quite different from staying here the year round. No one who has known applause and fame as you have could be satisfied in a place like this."

"I'm not going back. I promised grandfather to-night."

"You shouldn't have made a promise you know you'll break."

"Of course I don't."

Grandfather Sidal stirred and mumbled, "Beckon it's about time for bed, Madeline. Bill sprang to his feet and assisted him into the house. He came back to help Donna but she waved him aside and manipulated the chair herself.

The next day a doctor from Lebanon removed the splints and she took a few steps, but Bill was not present.

Almost before Con David had kissed his bride, the entire circus troupe descended upon them. Down the Pullman side came the strange folk, rattles and horns and drums raising a blatant din above the grind of the train wheels and the chug-chug of the engine. Stateroom doors were thrown open. Chairs and cushions were flung into the aisles. Hampers of food and, against all regulations, bottles of wine and beer were produced. Everyone from clown to musician, from equestrian star to midwife, had something to contribute to the festivity in the way of food or song or story.

Renfro, who had had a good week, was the gayest of all. With the mercurial spirit of the troupier, he was certain that business was going to be good now. Didn't the weather reports for the next few days predict sunny skies? And sunshine brought the farmers to town and sent pennies into Renfro's pockets. Beside that a wedding always brought good luck.

La Belle Matilde, regal in black satin and the diamonds she had few occasions to wear, supervised the feast. Twenty-four hours earlier she had been ready to denounce Madeline as a trouble maker. But that was over. Madeline was a bride now.

Two acrobats seized the girl in their strong arms and flung her upon the upper berth. Someone demanded a speech and Madeline did (since no one else knew that she did not love her) that the celebration of his wedding was like pouring vinegar into an open wound.

Madeline was pale and weary when she bade the crowd good night. Then she sat down to wait for her husband's return. She had few illusions about her marriage.

The gallant to save her, with no intention of marrying her, really. Between herself and Renfro he had been catapulted into a publicity stunt that made a husband of him. Nevertheless, she argued, he need not insult her this way. He hadn't been compelled to tell Renfro they were engaged, and whether Donna ever probably never will, but that did not stop their marriage.

In fact Miss Beling, who became Mrs. Cloud, Sunday, insisted it was a case of love at first sight—her pet joke almost from the time she met her husband at a dance for the blind months ago. She is twenty-three; he twenty-four.

"Madeline danced divinely," Cloud said. "I danced with her all evening and we fell in love."

Daylight crept under the blinds, streaking a pattern of yellow on the strip of carpet beside her bed. It made grey and bleak the white-washed walls and the stateroom and showed the girl's swollen eyelids, the tense lines about her mouth, and the bluish purplish of her face.

Madeline rose, swaying dizzily, and stared at her reflection in the mirror. "My wedding night," she laughed, grimly. "My wedding night! Well, the joke's on me! What a hag I look!"

She bathed her face in cold water, opened her makeup box and proceeded to rouge her cheeks and lips. When her appearance was improved she opened the stateroom door and peered into the aisle. It was still in darkness. A draft of cold air made her shiver. She lifted a shawl from her bare shoulders and then crept cautiously, noiselessly down the corridor. On right and left doors were closed, but from the latticed transoms issued snores and audible breathing.

She stepped out on the platform, letting the wind tangle her curls until her befogged senses cleared a trifle. Then she went into the next car. The smoking-room door was ajar. Con, in his wedding suit, sprawled on the couch, one arm flung over his head, the other hanging limp at his side.

Her lips twisted as she stood looking at him. Then, with a half-defiant toss of her head, she entered the room, closed the door behind her and crossed to his side. She bent over him and placed her hand on his forehead.

He moved, opened his eyes, blinked in bewilderment and then sat up, right. "Has the gang gone yet?" he asked.

RUSSIA MADE PACT OVERTURE

Dramatic Offer Made to Germany to Participate in Eastern Locarno Treaty

By Andre Berning, Associated Press Foreign Staff

Rome, June 18.—A dramatic attempt by Foreign Commissioner Maxim Litvinov to bring Germany into an eastern pact having the guarantee of France is revealed by the Italian press.

Newspapers give the impression Chancellor Hitler disclosed M. Litvinov's approach to Premier Mussolini. The Giornale d'Italia related the incident as follows:

"Germany's disinterest with regard to Russia grew after the movement toward a Franco-Russian entente. A Franco-Soviet pact was considered by Germany as a new instrument of hostility and an encirclement added to the already existing system of military alliances."

"To rectify this disinterest, the Soviet government sent to Berlin on the eve of the meeting in Venice a proposal to include Germany in an eastern Locarno pact. Germany, Russia, Poland and Czechoslovakia would participate."

FRENCH GUARANTEE

"This pact would have the guarantee of France, and the French guarantee would have as a counter-part a Soviet guarantee to the pact of Locarno."

"On June 18, the same day Chancellor Hitler departed from Venice, at 11 o'clock in the morning, M. Litvinov appeared suddenly in Berlin to ask of Foreign Minister Konstantin von Neurath a response to this proposal. The answer was negative."

"The refusal did not exclude the principle of consolidation with Russia, but it did exclude the principle of regional pacts—that is, of endless blocs."

PET SHOW IS BIG SUCCESS

A colorful scene was presented Saturday afternoon in the grounds of St. Michael's School, Windsor Road, when children of all ages brought their pets to the show, staged under the auspices of H.M.S. Resolution Chapter I.O.D.E. The show was a success, and the collection of pets was as varied as any that have been seen in Victoria.

In addition to the normal gathering of dogs and cats of various breeds, a parrot, several rabbits, frogs, turtles, a horned toad, white rats and even a collection of silkworms and a four-legged duck were among the pets brought to the show by the young competitors.

The cup presented by The Colonist for the best pet in the show was carried off by Sylvia Cunningham, 3500 Salisbury Way, Quadra Heights, with her Dachshund Mitti, and the second prize in the open section went to Nora Hughes for her rabbits. Neil Foster, with a chow, and Noreen Lord, with a Gordon setter, took third places.

One of the highlights of the prize-giving was the award for bravery given by Reeve R. W. Mayhew of O'Connell, who opened the show, to Kim, by whose barking the lives of a Saanich family were saved during a recent fire.

Col. F. B. Davidson of Elk Lake, vice-president of the Victoria City Kennel Club, acted as judge, assisted by Harry Dods and W. C. Burns, also members of the club.

The arrangements for the show were under the supervision of Miss Irene Ross, and the catering was directed by Mrs. Clifford Colinson, Mrs. C. Clark and Miss Frances Ebbam.

Mrs. Buckley and Mrs. Davidson helped with the distribution of prizes, Mrs. C. R. Wickson and Miss H. Holmes were at the gate.

The show realized about $60 for the chapter's work in the Peace River district.

It's the car of the future... smart people are enjoying it TODAY.

FLAPPER FANNY SAYS

By U.S. PAT. QV.

Few fruits need to be denied children. Seedy fruits, such as strawberries, raspberries and blackberries, are omitted from the diet of the child under seven. The pressed juice of strawberries may be safely given even to an infant. There should be no reaction unless the child suffers from a personal sensitivity to strawberries, in which case there may be an outcropping of hives.

Ripe peaches, pears and apples can be enjoyed in their season. For the infant the fruits should be ripe, sound and cooked, as well as sieved.

The woody cellulose present in practically all fruits is a laxative element unnecessary to infants. The summer juice of strawberries may be safely given even to an infant. There should be no reaction unless the child suffers from a personal sensitivity to strawberries, in which case there may be an outcropping of hives.

Fruits and Vegetables Suitable for the Child. Be sure to enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request.

Fruit should be eaten at meals. The habit of allowing children an orgy of fruit eating between meals is quite often responsible for the bad reputation of fruit in summer. When the child is hot and over-fatigued, almost any food is apt to upset him. Attributing spells of "summer complaint" to fruit is a common error. Usually leads to the recognition that the fruit was merely one of the precipitating causes.

Practical Geology Taught Young Boys

H. Marrion Devotes Own Time to Special Course of Instruction at South Park School; Display Is Evidence of Late Keen Interest

A valuable addition to the curriculum of the South Park School, in the form of a special economic geology and mineralogy course for boys, was instituted by H. Marrion, manual training instructor nine weeks ago, and on Saturday afternoon a display at the school gave evidence of the intense interest shown in this type of work by the boys.

Twelve exhibits of mineral rock and fossils to be found around the lower part of Vancouver Island, arranged by boys ranging from six and a half to about sixteen years, were shown and were clearly evidenced that Mr. Marrion has established a ground training for any of the youngsters who wish to pursue this type of study.

To exemplify the interest shown by the boys, Mr. Marrion explained that the course, since it was not included in the regular school work, had to be carried on outside of school hours.

Very Tuesday, forty boys gave up their lunch hour, bringing with them their lunch to school with them, and for more than half an hour listened to Mr. Marrion's weekly lecture.

On six occasions he took the boys to hikes to bays and mountains where they collected sandstone and mineral rock. In addition to this kind of educational value, the boys at a great deal of pleasure out of the hikes as such, and thus Mr. Marrion combined practical instruction with pleasure.

The success of the course has favorably impressed school officials. Mr. John Kyle, superintendent of the school, has made arrangements to have the work displayed at the summer school, George H. Deane, school inspector, is also enthusiastic about it, and will have the children of the school view it.

The thirty boys who finished the course arranged displays, but several did not think their good enough for competition. The twelve on show, however, are a fine testimony of the instruction given. Owing to the interest taken by individuals and the South Park Parent Teacher Association, prizes have been offered for the best of the displays and Mr. Marrion now arranging the prize list.

THE PURPOSE OF THE COURSE

The course was instituted at the suggestion of Mr. Marrion who is actively interested in geology. When planning his intentions to school authorities for their opinion he outlined the following purpose:

1. To give boys an incentive for wholesome open-air excursions in the vicinity of Victoria.

2. To teach them to appreciate the beauties and wonders of nature.

3. To have them realize the pleasure of making discoveries and at the same time develop their powers of imagination.

4. To enlarge and broaden their knowledge of: (a) the natural resources in or near Victoria; (b) the uses to which the resources can be put; (c) the value of the resources in the raw and manufactured form; and (d) the history of any deposit.

5. To help them to understand some of the geological processes that have taken place, thereby broadening their conception of time.

6. To appreciate human progress by the study of the advancements made in the manufacture of or production of mineral or metallic substances.

The method employed by Mr. Marrion was to arrange lectures on the following subjects: Clay, sand, gravel, argillite shales, sandstone, coal, lava, make-up of lava, and minerals.

The lectures were each typed out and one of the boys who were unable to attend one of them had the opportunity to spend a little time reading the lecture in order that they would not fall behind. Written questions were also given them to answer, while the collection of specimens and field trips with the instructor completed the method of teaching.

Mr. Marrion pointed out that while it might seem strange to an outsider that a young lad should take so deep an interest in such a subject as geology, it was the practical work that kept the interest and thus speeded the learning.

Further testimony of the interest aroused by this work was shown in the case of one member of the class, Rod Clark, twelve and a half years of age. Rod's six-and-a-half-year-old brother, Alan, became interested in the collection of "rocks" which big brother was making and inquired what it was all about.

When told what Rod was doing Alan started a little geology study himself. His interest became so great that he prevailed upon brother Rod to teach him the weekly lesson, since Alan was too young to attend the regular class. This Rod did and the result was that Alan put in a display at the school which is among the twelve competing for the prizes.

TRUSTEE'S PRAISE

Trustee Percy E. George of the City School Board, saw the display on Saturday and voiced unstinting praise of the work which Mr. Marrion had done.

"I think this is one of the finest steps taken in present day progress in the city schools," he said. "In a province such as British Columbia where tremendous wealth lays in the natural mineral resources, in my opinion every pupil should have tuition to encourage mining research."

Mr. Marrion has set a splendid example by his work and it would be a shame not to see it continued and carried on in other schools. While addition of this course to the regular school curriculum would mean added expense to the taxpayer, I think it might be included by elimination of one of the courses now being taught. The Department of Education would be taking a step in the right direction I believe to give such a move serious consideration."

Trustee George has referred the matter to the Minister of Education, who has replied that he is considering it.

CROPS ESCAPE IN S. MANITOBA

Crops in Manitoba south of Winnipeg to the boundary are in unusually good condition this year and have escaped all drought, according to detailed reports received here today by Capt. Burgess Gadsden from his agent, A. Chisholm, at Norris, Man., who looks after his land holdings in that area. Capt. Gadsden, who now makes his home in Victoria, formerly operated his Manitoba holdings personally.

"The grain crops of the district, including your own, are just excellent, they never have looked better at this time of the season," Mr. Chisholm reported. "The last ten days have been dull, cloudy and cold so that the grasshoppers did not move during that time."

"The grain crops reports made public from day to day are probably representative of conditions, as they obtain in the greater part of the prairies, but I am glad to say there is nothing in the situation around here to cause us any alarm."

"Seeding time was ideal with a very liberal reserve of moisture. Growth came quite regularly and made satisfactory progress right along. The grain withstood the excessively hot weather most remarkably well. Since then there have been rains and heavy cloudy skies. The rains have been about enough to keep the grain well nourished."

A. W. Whittingham, proprietor of Dick's drygoods store, Friday morning received the "Anglers' Prayer" from Toronto, which reads:

"Lord give me grace to catch a fish so big that even I when talking of it afterward may never need to lie!"

Calling for his boy after school in the afternoon, Mr. Whittingham went to Brentwood and on 500 feet of copper wire line, using one and quarter pounds of lead, a No. 7 Superior spoon, he caught a twenty-five and half pound salmon. His catch earned him the bronze button of the Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association. The fish was on display on Saturday at Peden's sporting goods store, and will be served at the Sunshine Inn to-night.

Circuit Blows Help Giants Trounce Pittsburgh and Chicago Cubs Take Second Game From Boston; Yankees and Detroit Divide Pair

One of the most surprising and important developments in the National League race has produced so far this season lies in the showing of the so-called weak clubs of the eastern sector of the circuit in their latest western tour.

Boston, Brooklyn and Philadelphia have dealt out blows right and left to the west's pennant contenders, while the league-leading New York Giants took the occasion to improve their position by winning five out of six.

The Phillies' double setback at the hands of the second-place St. Louis Cardinals weakened the eastern drive a bit yesterday as the hurling of the Dean brothers gave the Cards the decision, 6 to 0 and 7 to 5.

TIMELY HOME RUN
The cards remained three games behind the Giants, who humbled the Pittsburgh Pirates, 9 to 3, with the aid of Lefty O'Doul's pinch homer with the bases full.

The Boston Braves and Chicago Cubs divided a bargain bill. Boston won the opener, 4 to 2, with a four-run burst against Bud Tinning in the second. The second clash went eleven innings before Chuck Klein socked his seventeenth homer of the year and produced a 3 to 2 Cub triumph.

Brooklyn took two games from Cincinnati's lowly Reds, 4 to 2 and 9 to 7, winning each on a three-run rally in the ninth.

Detroit and New York failed to reach any decision in their duel for the American League lead, splitting a double-header and leaving the Yankees with a one-game margin.

Lefty Gomez held the Tigers to five hits in the opener to win, 3 to 2. Vic Sorrell then turned the tables with three-hit hurling job and won, 5 to 2. Washington held third place by a few points, despite an 8 to 4 shellacking from Cleveland.

The Philadelphia Athletics took the day's best pitching duel from Chicago, 3 to 2, as Johnny Marcum allowed three hits and Milt Gaston four. Al Simmons' tenth homer and Bob Johnson's seventeenth produced most of the runs.

Boston, in fifth place, and St. Louis, in sixth, split a twin bill. The Browns slammed out a 10 to 7 decision in the first clash, and the Red Sox won the six-inning afterpiece, 6 to 3.

RETAIN POUGHKEEPSIE ROWING TITLE

Coming from behind in the last mile to catch and pass the pace-setting Washington Huskies, California's Golden Bears, coached by Ky. Bright, on Saturday afternoon, retained their Poughkeepsie regatta title of 1932, last year of the race.

California Bears In Great Victory

ALBIONS IN CLOSE WIN

Thrilling Sprint in Final Mile Carries Southern Oarsmen to Win Over Washington Huskies at Poughkeepsie Regatta; Washington Freshmen Victors

Poughkeepsie, N.Y., June 18.—Riding a flooding tide down the calm Hudson, the mighty Golden Bears of California picked up the Poughkeepsie trail Saturday evening exactly where they left off with the historic regatta in 1932—in a stunning victory over six of the finest varsity eights in the inter-collegiate rowing world.

Like another Bear from California, the other one Max, the new heavyweight champion, the Golden Bears stalked a swift rival from the Pacific Coast, the Huskies of Washington, through three long miles, caught them in the first half of the last mile, and went on to win, going away by a full three-quarters of a length.

Of all the five eastern crews, only one, a surprisingly strong Navy eight, was able to furnish the west any competition at all, as California reversed in the extra mile the decision Washington scored by three-quarters of a length in their early season three-mile duel on the Pacific Coast.

CLOSE FINISH
Many of that far-flung throng, admittedly in no position to argue with the judges, so close they could touch the crews, thought Dick Walsh's midshipmen had shot up in the final 100 yards to hit the finish line, even with Washington for second place. From the shore, on a line dead-even with the finish, the crews seemed to flash over the last mark simultaneously.

But the judges, after considerable debate, gave second place to Washington, third to Navy, fourth to Cornell, fifth to Pennsylvania, sixth to Syracuse and seventh to Columbia.

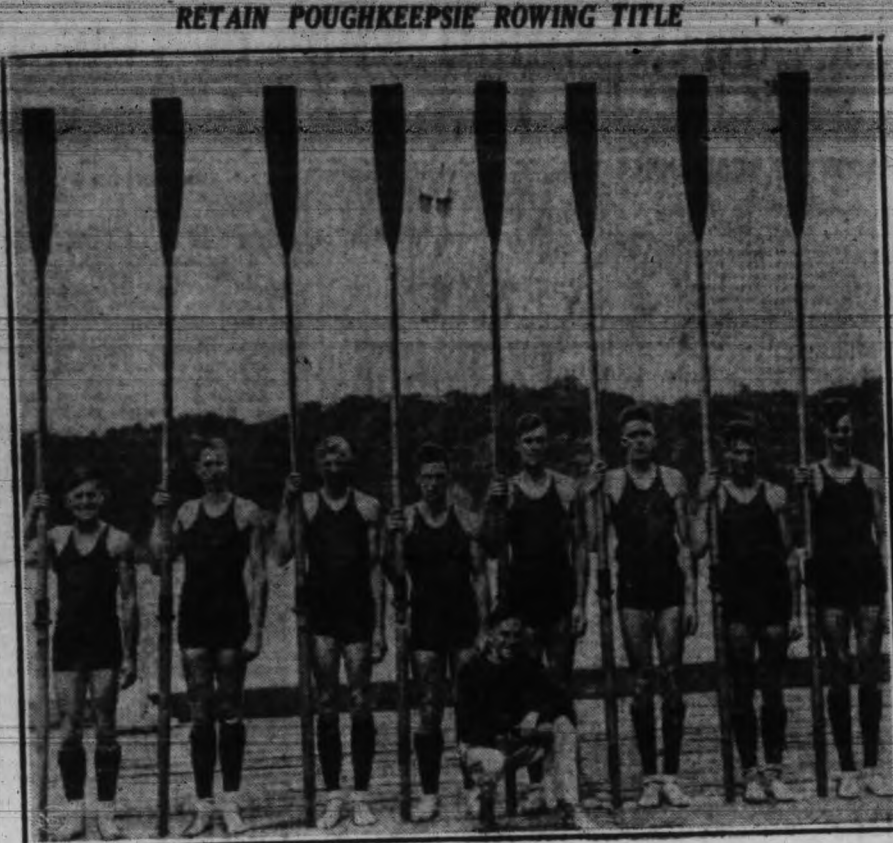

The brilliance of Washington, the remarkably swift finish of a Navy eight that looked as though it were just starting to row—these were the sparkling features of a race rowed remarkably true to form.

Columbia, poorest all season at two miles, was equally weak at four and never was a contender after the first quarter mile. Syracuse, after two miles, was out of it. Cornell and Pennsylvania made slight bids at the two-mile mark and then never figured thereafter, leaving California and Washington, then at the very last, Navy, to make a race of it.

KEPT RIGHT BEHIND
Struck by Dick Burnley, only nineteen years old, the favored Californians, never let Washington get more than a half length, but never were nearer than a quarter length, as the two western eights both hitting low, casual beats, paced the field from the start. It seemed the California strategy to let the Huskies make the pace to the railroad bridge, three miles down the smooth, faintly rippling features of a race rowed remarkably true to form.

Half a mile from the finish, the California crew started edging in from the margin was just under a length, the lanky Bears, averaging only 176 pounds in weight, but almost six feet three inches to a man in height, sped on to duplicate the victories of two other California varsities in the Olympic years of 1928 and 1932.

The mighty freshmen of Washington paraded to a full five-length victory over Syracuse in the opening two-mile heat of the thirty-seventh annual Poughkeepsie regatta, Cornell was third, half a length back of Syracuse.

Coming from behind in the last mile to catch and pass the pace-setting Washington Huskies, California's Golden Bears, coached by Ky. Bright, on Saturday afternoon, retained their Poughkeepsie regatta title of 1932, last year of the race. The Bears placed second. WINS FRENCH CLASSIC
Auteuil, France, June 18.—Outclassing thirteen entrants, Baller's horse, Agitato, mounted by Jockey Lock, yesterday won the Grand Steeplechase and a purse of 400,000 francs in the annual French classic at the Auteuil race course.

DUNCAN GIRL SHARES GLORY
Yvonne Dingley Gives Brilliant Performance in B.C. Women's Track Meet

Vancouver, June 17.—Two crack feminine athletes, one from Vancouver and the other from Duncan, as distinctly different in build as night is from day, shared individual honors as a galaxy of stars raced over the cinders and dug their spikes into the jumping pits to set two Dominion records and one provincial mark at the British Columbia women's track meet here to-day.

Fifteen-year-old Yvonne Dingley, Duncan's track star, who won the title of the "one-man track team" when she grabbed off a trio of titles at New Westminster indoor meet several weeks ago, besides duplicating her Royal City performance Saturday, when she walked off with the sixty-meter hurdles, high jump and baseball throw in the junior division, set up a new provincial mark in baseball throw with a heave of 153 feet 5 inches.

In addition to her three victories, the sturdy Vancouver Islander placed third in the sixty-meter dash and just missed setting a new Dominion record in the broad jump when she failed to time her leaps and took off three feet before reaching the line. Even then Yvonne placed fourth with a jump of 12 feet 6 inches in the event, which was won by Gladys Hensley of South Vancouver, with a mark of 14 feet 2 inches.

The other record, a Canadian mark, was set in the senior 400-metre relay when the Vancouver Athletic Club raced over the distance in 50 1-5 seconds.

Margaret Bell, Vancouver's slim high jumper and the exact opposite in physique to the youthful Dingley, set a new Dominion mark in the intermediate jump when she cleared the bar at 5 feet 11 inches, 7/8 inches better than the record she set last year.

Margaret Thomson, comely Auburn-haired miss from Nanaimo, kept the island colors flying when she walked off with the senior high jump with a mark of 4 feet 7 1/2 inches, 5 1/2 inches less than the Canadian record, held by Eva Dawes, Toronto.

Oliver Gordon, speedy entry from Duncan, gave Lillian Palmer, Canadian titleholder, a great battle before losing out in the 200-metres. Handicapped by a bad start, the Duncan sprinter turned on the heels, rounding the turn in the home stretch and swept up to finish a few feet back of the Vancouver girl.

Many Frizell, former Canadian Olympic team member and the province's crack sprinter, showed the way to the tape in the 100-metre finishing in 17-10 seconds, 4-10 seconds slower than the world record.

NANAIMO ELEVEN IN ODD GOAL WIN

removed the ball from the spot and gave Nanaimo a free kick. Nanaimo broke fast and English got in another hard shot from the ring wing, but De Costa was safe.

Equimatt attacked and forced a corner. Stewart's cross was taken by Hay who slipped the ball to Wagland and the inside left drove it into the net from feet out. The crowd went wild with joy and called upon the Dockers to get another after twenty minutes of end-to-end play Nanaimo got the winning goal, Waugh again eluding the Equimatt backs to get in close and head home a centre from Gray. For the remainder of the match Nanaimo were content to protect their lead, although they were dangerous on one rush when De Costa ran out of his net to beat English to the ball. The latter was injured in the collision but soon recovered.

Dave Swan refereed. The teams follow: Nanaimo City: McLaren, Boyd, Edmunds, McGregor, Knight, Strobhart, English, Thompson, Waugh, Gray and Sandiland. Equimatt—De Costa, Joe Watt, Richard, Sweeney, T. Watt, Hay, Stewart, John Watt, Miller, Wagland, and Worewick.

Vancouver, June 18.—Both games in the first round of the Dominion championship series resulted in draws Saturday, necessitating replays in each case. The double-header was played at Con Jones Park with overtime for the first game. The second contest was called owing to time limit before a baseball game.

Crack Local Sprinter Shows Heels to Good Field in 100 and 220-Yard Dashes; Competition Is Keen

Flashing away on a lightning break, Joe Addison, pride of Archie McKinnon's Flying Y track squad, on Saturday asserted his supremacy over the best of the association's sprinters as he led young Dick Surphiss, Victoria High track captain, to the tape in a fast entry in the annual Y.M.C.A. sports at Victoria High School. Addison covered the distance on the grass track in ten and one-fifth seconds, with Arnie Phillips, this year's addition to the senior sprinting staff, finishing third.

Addison also showed the way in the furlong, racing around the curved track wide open to finish well out in front in twenty-three and one-fifth seconds. Phillips was second. In the restricted events for Y.M.C.A. boys under eighteen, Jim Cousins showed the way in the older class, taking nine points. Bob Brown was leader in the junior section for boys under fifteen, garnering a like number of points. Herbert Brown was runner-up in the higher class with seven, and R. Bentley, C. Stevens, Ngai, Donald Scott and M. Lumley each scored six.

B. Brown and Gnal hit the tape almost together in the 220-yard sprint for boys under fifteen.

EXHIBITION
In another exhibition fixture "Chuck" Cunningham, outstanding half miler of the province, covered his favorite distance in two minutes and nine seconds.

Throughout the meet keen competition was shown.

The junior school inter-club relay was easily taken by the Cyclones. Officers of the day were: Judges, Sparks; recorder, Reg. Ault; timekeepers, Owen Bentley and Ted MacE. Dickinson, J. V. Addison In Good Form At Y Meet
Crack Local Sprinter Shows Heels to Good Field in 100 and 220-Yard Dashes; Competition Is Keen

Flashing away on a lightning break, Joe Addison, pride of Archie McKinnon's Flying Y track squad, on Saturday asserted his supremacy over the best of the association's sprinters as he led young Dick Surphiss, Victoria High track captain, to the tape in a fast entry in the annual Y.M.C.A. sports at Victoria High School. Addison covered the distance on the grass track in ten and one-fifth seconds, with Arnie Phillips, this year's addition to the senior sprinting staff, finishing third.

Addison also showed the way in the furlong, racing around the curved track wide open to finish well out in front in twenty-three and one-fifth seconds. Phillips was second. In the restricted events for Y.M.C.A. boys under eighteen, Jim Cousins showed the way in the older class, taking nine points. Bob Brown was leader in the junior section for boys under fifteen, garnering a like number of points. Herbert Brown was runner-up in the higher class with seven, and R. Bentley, C. Stevens, Ngai, Donald Scott and M. Lumley each scored six.

B. Brown and Gnal hit the tape almost together in the 220-yard sprint for boys under fifteen.

ONE OF the greatest mistakes that we make is the overemphasis we put upon the changes that have taken place in the last few years. Everything is like it used to be. This is not true. There have been a few surface changes but that is all. The great bulk of the world and society still stand immovable, unaltered. We have tunnels through mountains and span rivers with bridges, but the rivers and the mountains are there as they have been from the beginning. We ride in automobiles and airplanes instead of traveling by stage coaches or trudging on foot, but we arrive at the same journey's end.

We still come into the world through the gates of agony and go out through the doors of darkness. We still have sunshine and rain and heat and cold. Not a man or woman of us who does not know laughter and tears, and success and failure; who does not hunger and thirst and love just as our remotest ancestors did. It is the same old world. It is the same old nature and human nature. Nothing changed that counts much.

This propaganda about its being a changed world would only be harmless ballyhoo or the disgruntled grunt of those who are set in their ways and do not wish to be disturbed, if it were not for the fact that the young take it seriously. They actually believe that the modern world in which they live is entirely different from the old world of their fathers and grandfathers; that it is run by different laws, and that none of the rules and regulations of the old world apply in it.

That is why they are so scornful of the advice of their elders and snap their fingers in the face of the moralities. That is why they are so cocky and sure of themselves and so patronizing to their parents. That is why they all want to start out as bond salesmen with an unlimited drawing account, and why they are strong for free love, and why they are sure they can drink all night and turn out brilliant work in the day, and why they all expect to make fortunes by the time they are thirty without ever really having to exert themselves at all.

Of course, poor old dad couldn't do it in the old world in which he lived. Then a chap had to grub hard to make a living and pinch and economize to get ahead, and he was middle-aged or over before he moved on Easy Street. And people were priggish and narrow and girls especially had to watch their steps. And marriage was a life contract, instead of a passing adventure. And it was the industrious apprentice and not the playboy who got the plum.

But it is all different now. This is a changed world. A modern world with a new set of rules for the game. And the youngsters try to play it according to them.

They begin even as adolescents to burn the candle at both ends. They know that father and mother had to establish their health when they were young, but they think that it is unnecessary for the youngsters of this generation because they live in a changed world. They think that they can dance all night and go without sleep; that they are pneumonia-proof and can go about in freezing weather without enough clothes on to keep a canary bird warm; that they can starve themselves and live on cigarettes without getting tuberculosis and nerves, and that they can drink gallons of vile liquor and get drunk without it hurting them.

And then they find that nature hasn't changed after all, and that they have just exactly the same kind of stomachs and lungs and constitutions that their parents had, and that these revenge themselves just the same way for being mistreated. The sanatoriums are filled with girls and boys who will be invalids for life because they believed that the laws of health had been changed.

Same way about success. When you talk to a boy now about beginning at the bottom, he bestows upon you a pitying smile. Not for him. That may have been good enough for the plodding duffers of the old world, but it is no go in this new world. He is going to commence at the top with a mahogany-top desk and a big salary and plenty of time off to play golf. And he isn't going to pinch pennies, either. He is going to throw dollars to the birds.

And he finds that they haven't made any short cut to success in the new world. It is the same long, hard, weary path it has always been. Nor is there any easy money in the new world. It is just as hard to get as it was in the old. And the rules for success are just the same. Competence. Industry. Patience. Thrift. Courage. Perseverance. Funny, but the lads who are going to be the big men of twenty years hence are following in the footsteps that were made by the countless generations of men who have climbed to fame and power.

The girls, no less than the boys, are almost fanatical in their belief that this is a new world in which they do not have to subscribe to any of the conventions and agencies that bound their forefathers. They don't have to be modest. They don't even have to be virtuous. They can drink and smoke and swear and pet and have affairs with men, and, if they marry and get bored with domesticity, they can chuck the business and get divorces as often as they like.

But they find that the woman who sows a wild-oat crop still has to reap it in bitterness and tears. She finds that she must pay for her sins in sickness and suffering and often in death, and always in her own self-respect and the respect of all whose opinion she values.

And she looks about her and sees that the only happy women are those who have kept themselves clean; those who have held to their high ideals; those who put duty before inclination; those who hold their marriage sacred and who make homes that are a benediction to their families.

Oh, no, it isn't a changed world. It is the same old world with the same old recipes for getting on in it. DOROTHY DIX.

OUT OUR WAY

Uncle Wiggily's Dance

By HOWARD R. GARIS

When Mr. Twistytail, the jolly fat pig gentleman, was in the corner of Uncle Wiggily's bungalow one morning, he saw the rabbit gentleman, hopping up and down under the grape arbor.

"What's the matter, Wiggily?" asked Mr. Twistytail. "Did a bee sting you?"

"Oh, no," said Uncle Wiggily. "The bees and I are friends."

"Then what are you doing?" the pig gentleman wanted to know.

"I am dancing," said the rabbit. "Ever since Baby Bunt got her tin whistle, and we saw the Bad Chap doing it, we have been thinking that I ought to dance myself."

"It is good exercise," admitted Mr. Twistytail.

"You ought to do a bit of dancing yourself, Twisty," said the rabbit gentleman. "It would take off some of your fat."

"But I don't want to lose any of my fat," grunted Mr. Twistytail. "I am supposed to be fat. You know the old saying, 'as fat as a pig.' Why, if I got thin there would be no use saying that any more. No, I shall not dance and lose my fat. I'll think you aren't dancing so very well yourself. All you seem to do is to hop up and down."

"That's because I have no music," said the rabbit. "If I had some one to play me a tune, I think I could do a very good dance."

"I'll play for you," quickly offered the pig. "Playing was one of my old-time talents. 'Twas I who first taught Baby Bunt to whistle, and I played a dancing tune. I have been thinking that I ought to dance myself."

Into his bungalow hopped the rabbit gentleman. Out he came with the tin whistle which Mr. Twistytail called a "tooter."

"There you are," said Uncle Wiggily, handing it to the pig. "Play me a tune and I'll dance for you."

Mr. Twistytail sat down on a box under the shady grape arbor and began to blow into the tin whistle. He played a merry "Tina Tina, too too loo, too dum dum" tune, and Uncle Wiggily began to kick up his legs and skip about as lively as a cricket, or you might say a pig, which is the same thing.

"How is that, Twisty?" asked Uncle Wiggily, sort of jerky like and out of breath from his dancing.

"It is fine!" puffed Mr. Twistytail, jerky like and out of breath from his tooting. "But there is one thing you don't do, Wiggily," said the pig gentleman. "When the rabbit stopped a moment to rest and there was no need to blow the tin whistle, there is one thing wrong, Mr. Longears."

"What?" asked the bunny.

"You don't make any noise when you dance," said the pig. "Now you are supposed to be a clog or tap dancer, but I hear no noise but my playings. Why don't you rattle your feet?"

"I need hard shoes with wooden soles to do tap dancing," said Uncle Wiggily. "But say, that's an idea! I'll go get a pair of heavy wooden dancing shoes and try them on the wooden floor here beneath the grape arbor. Will you wait for me?"

"That's fine!" said the pig. "I'll take a sleep while you're gone."

Uncle Wiggily hopped away to the dance shoe store and soon returned with the shoes he wanted. Putting on the wooden-soled shoes, Uncle Wiggily kicked his feet about in great style and the pig cried:

"That's fine!"

"Just what I say!" shouted a howling voice at the end of the grape arbor and ran the hungry Bob Cat. "I'm going to have a fine meal! Ha! Ha! Ha!"

"Take a bite out of that!" shouted Uncle Wiggily. With that he gave a big kick with his left foot. Off came the heavy wooden-soled shoe and it landed the Bob Cat on his nose.

"Wow!" he howled. "Oh, wow! What's the idea?"

"Here's another idea!" With that he kicked the shoe off his right foot and the heavy sole landed the Bob Cat on his silly little tail. For by that time the Bad Chap was running away. He howled again. Then Mr. Longears put on his shoes once more and finished the dance. Mr. Twistytail said he did very well and the rabbit said he'd help the cat shovel find something to eat. I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily's picnic basket and what happened to it. (Copyright, 1934, by H. R. Garis)

Ms. Hive Maru, of the Nippon Yusen Kaisha, with passengers and cargo from the Orient, reached quai at 5.45 o'clock yesterday evening and proceeded direct to Vancouver.

The Hive's cargo included two cases of silk destined for eastern markets, and this will be on its way by special train from Vancouver to-day. Total consignments of cargo for Vancouver and overland delivery amounted to 1,300 tons.

Harry Clark, local agent for the Nippon Yusen Kaisha, boarded the ship at William Head and proceeded with her to the mainland.

The Hive Maru will return to Vancouver after completing at Seattle. It is expected to load cargo for the return trip to Yokohama, Kobe and Osaka. It is possible, however, that she will be delayed at Seattle by the strike.

Empress Liner Due With Cabins Taxed

R.M.S. Empress of Japan, Scheduled to Berth Here From Orient Wednesday Morning, Has 577 Travelers Aboard; Many Embarked at Honolulu

Carrying a total of 577 passengers, the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Japan, Capt. L. D. Douglas, inbound from ports in the Orient via Honolulu, is due to arrive at the berth docks here about 7 o'clock Wednesday morning. It was announced at the C.P.R. passenger offices here to-day.

The passenger list coming in aboard the liner is one of the largest handled eastbound within the last three years.

First and tourist accommodations were taxed to the limit out of Honolulu, where 117 additional passengers joined the ship.

The Empress of Japan is also heavily booked for the westbound trip, sailing June 30 from Vancouver and Victoria for Yokohama, Hongkong and Manila.

CULTURAL TOUR PARTY

Travelers on board the C.P.R. ship arriving here Wednesday morning include Mrs. Edith M. Clarke of Vancouver, former missionary worker in China, and members of her Chinese cultural tour party, returning from a visit to Honan Province. Others of the party are Miss Margaret Biddle of Victoria, Mrs. E. J. Wood, Miss E. R. Endicott, Mrs. M. D. Parker, Mrs. Edward Lissett, Mrs. H. E. Mellicke of Vancouver. They sailed for the Orient April 7 by the liner Empress of Canada.

Other passengers expected on the Empress of Japan are Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Binkley of Sourabaya, H. M. Peters, director of Spectacles Sugar Company, Manila; F. Cowherd, official of the British American Tobacco Company, Shanghai; Benjamin Marx Jr., Honolulu; V. P. Loomis, of the China Realty Company, Shanghai; Mrs. T. McDonnell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Wogster, Vancouver, and Mrs. G. Guggenheim of Kobe and New York.

The inbound ship carries an average cargo and will discharge, mail and freight here before shifting to Vancouver.

Grant Hall Speaks Hopefully Of Crops

Heavy Rains Change Outlook on Prairies, Says C.P.R. Vice-president on Return East; Farmers Reseeding Damaged Areas

Montreal, June 18.—"The people of Canada as a whole can now safely adopt a more optimistic outlook with respect to the ultimate success of the grain and other crops this year, but the situation must be viewed in the light of experience, weather still being the dominating factor," Grant Hall, vice-president, Canadian Pacific Railway, stated here Saturday on his return from a Dominion-wide inspection tour of the company's properties.

Mr. Hall, during the course of his tour, made a close survey of the crop situation on the prairies, and drew an interesting parallel between the conditions as he found them on his western journey, and on his trip east.

"I crossed the prairies, traveling west, during the latter part of May," Mr. Hall said, "during the period when the lack of rain had created menacing and, in many instances, disastrous, situations for the individual farmer. Lack of rain, combined with intense heat had wilted crops in very considerable areas, and in others brought the grain close to the danger point. The people in the prairie provinces naturally reflected this condition in their outlook, and the tendency toward discouragement could not be avoided."

SHOT BLADE STAGE

"On my return journey, however, I found that the heavy rains entirely changed the situation, both as regards the crops and the outlook of the entire population of the prairie provinces. The rains, which were sustained, arrived in time to save the crops in areas where the grain had not been entirely wilted. Indeed, all grains above the ground now have a healthy green appearance, and are growing rapidly, and I note by the latest reports, are commencing to come into the shot blade stage. In addition, the western farmers, who have experienced many vicissitudes, are showing renewed and continued faith in the land by immediately proceeding to reseed the damaged fields in many areas. It is felt that sufficient moisture has now been received so will assure steady growth for the next few weeks, when it is hoped that further normal rainfall will further relieve the anxiety."

Seized Japanese Boats Released

Associated Press
Tokyo, June 18.—Foreign Office dispatches said Saturday that two Japanese crab-canning boats reported June 14 to have been seized by a Soviet warship were merely stopped for examination and then released.

LOUISE TAKES CAPACITY LIST

Fresh from overhaul in the Esquimalt drydock, the C.P.R. coastal liner Princess Louise, which cleared from Victoria Friday night, sailed from Vancouver Saturday night on her second trip of the B.C. Coast Service's 1934 summer schedule to Alaska with over 200 passengers.

The Louise shows considerable change in the layout of her promenade and boat deck rooms, which were enlarged by means of putting two rooms into the space formerly occupied by three. Another change noted was widening of the roof of the boat deck to provide additional shelter from the weather.

She is almost entirely a tourist ship, in keeping with the earliness of the Alaska season this year, but there were a few miners and prospectors sailing, the rearward of the greatest northward rush since the Klondike days.

WRITER ON BOARD

Mrs. Stella M. Champney, special correspondent of The Detroit News, who has been writing articles about Canada and Canadian affairs during the last few years, sailed for Skagway to spend six weeks in Alaska and the Yukon gathering material for a series of articles based on the romance and development of the north.

Among tourists sailing from the Pacific northwest were: Earl Day, Dolores Hall, Betty Barry, Miss E. Durance, Miss M. Anderson, and Miss Campbell; Portland, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Savikko, Miss Marian Rose, Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Rice, Miss Florence McEwen, E. Gault, Gordon Ingram, Seattle; Mrs. H. F. With her return to France from New York this voyage, the French Line flagship Ss. Ile de France, which entered the transatlantic service seven years ago, will complete her one hundredth round voyage. The ship sailed from New York Saturday for Cherbourg.

In those seven years, since she sailed from New York for Plymouth and New York on her maiden voyage on June 22, 1927, the Ile de France has carried in her transatlantic service almost 160,000 passengers. Including the number she carried when she sailed eastbound Saturday her grand total is 159,002, of which 71,794 are first class passengers. Thus her average of 160 crossings in each direction is 795 passengers per crossing, 350 of them in first class.

Of the total of 159,002 in all classes, 77,203 are westbound passengers, while 81,799 are passengers leaving New York. Of the 71,794 traveling in first class, 35,747 came westbound while 36,047 sailed from New York. That the Ile de France would take a pre-eminent place in the world of transatlantic travel was immediately evident when she entered service. Her decoration throughout in the modernistic style was a daring innovation, but one which has been justified by the tremendous success she has achieved in winning popularity with the traveling public as she proved by the very considerable number of passengers she has averaged in season and out, through a little over two years of "the good old days" and almost five years of less prosperous times.

MINTAKA, TERN WERE WINNERS

Close Sailing in Star and Dinghy Classes at Cadboro Bay Saturday

Excellent sailing conditions prevailed in Cadboro Bay Saturday afternoon when Mintaka and Tern proved winners in respective star and dinghy classes in the second matinee of the season for Royal Victoria Yacht Club trophies.

Mintaka lost way at the starting line, with Boykin, Taseko and Genie getting away at the gun almost abreast of each other, but she gained steadily to the first mark at Castle Point, and was soon leading the other stars to the Beach buoy, with Boykin trailing close in her wake, Mintaka.

It was close racing for small craft over a three and a half mile course. Spectators aboard Col. Lindsay's yacht Allen, and those on the club float, were furnished an interesting spectacle by Tern and Kismet in the dinghy class.

Kismet had the better of the sailing to the first mark off Paterson Point on the initial round, but Tern then forged to the lead and maintained her advantage to the finish line, Margaret coming in third.

Humphrey Golby in Tern, H. Gann in Kismet and Margaret Lindsay in Margaret, all sailed a good race.

Mintaka, W. T. M. Barrett, 4:12.23; Boykin, R. Blandy, 4:11.47; Taseko, Clifford Adams, 4:14.10; Genie, N. Blandy, 4:19.35.

Tern, H. Golby, 4:07.35; Kismet, H. Gann, 4:08.35; Margaret, A. Heil, 4:12.55; Barnacle, I. Ackland, 4:13.55; Helen, Mrs. Van der Vliet, 4:15.40; Onaway, P. Hincks, 4:19.40; Puss in Boots, Miss Hinder, 4:50.
